

Tele MANAS Helpline

Tele MANAS (Tele Mental Health Assistance and Networking Across States)
(14416 / 1800-89-14416)

Under the National Mental Health Program, the centrally sponsored scheme Tele MANAS is being implemented in the state of Maharashtra from October 2022. Under the Tele MANAS Program, free 24 × 7 integrated and comprehensive mental health services are provided through the helpline number 14416. This includes treatment and counselling by experts for various mental problems. The information provided by you after calling the Tele MANAS helpline remains completely confidential, so students, parents and teachers should feel free to call the helpline number and tell them about their problems and doubts and get guidance on it. Tell others to take help from this facility as well.

Manodarpan

The Manodarpan Helpline (8448440632) is a free telephone service that has been made available since July 2020. It is provided by the Ministry of Education through the Manodarpan Cell at the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) to offer psychological guidance and support to students, parents and teachers. This service is available every day of the week from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM. Students, parents, and teachers can call this helpline to receive the necessary guidance and counseling.

This textbook aligns with the curriculum and syllabus developed by the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT), Maharashtra, Pune-30. This book has been verified and approved by SCERT, Maharashtra, Pune. The Coordination Committee, established under Government Resolution by GR No. Abhyas - 2116/(Pra.Kra.43/16) SD - 4 dated April 25, 2016, approved this textbook in its meeting held on April 01, 2026 for use from academic year 2026-27 onwards.

my happiness.

Preface

Dear learners,

A warm welcome! We are happy to handover 'English Balbharati Grade Three' in your hands. As you move ahead on your learning journey, you are ready to explore English in a more joyful, confident and meaningful way.

This textbook is prepared according to the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 and is in continuation to the learning you began in earlier classes. By now, you are familiar with rhymes, songs, conversation and short stories. In this book, you will strengthen these language areas and learn to use English more effectively in your daily life.

In this textbook, you will enjoy interesting stories, lively poems, picture-based activities and language games. You will listen, speak, read and write English through fun and engaging activities. Activities like greetings, reading with comprehension, express your views and short writing tasks will help you to learn English and connect with the language you already know.

You will learn English by doing activities, such as making posters, acting, singing, reading aloud and talking with your friends. Many lessons are connected to your real-life experiences, helping you use English confidently in the classroom and beyond.

The activities in this book are designed step by step. You will read various texts, learn new words, practise functional grammar in a simple way and write small paragraphs. Picture descriptions, dialogues and creative tasks will help you to express your thoughts clearly and confidently.

As you move through Grade Three, your language skills will grow stronger. By the end of the year, you will be able to understand texts better, speak fluently, write meaningful short stories and enjoy learning English every day.

We hope this book becomes your friendly companion in learning. Learn with curiosity, practise with joy and explore English with confidence.

Grade Three children are expected to attain the outlined learning outcomes by year-end. Relevant content on various pages, not just those specified, can contribute to achieving these outcomes.

Instructions for Teachers and Parents

Teachers and parents should ensure that children are provided with rich opportunities to communicate ideas clearly and confidently in English.

Listening and Speaking

- Encourage children to participate in structured and unstructured classroom discussions.
- Provide opportunities for storytelling, picture description, role-play, short speeches and “show and tell” activities.
- Motivate children to listen attentively, respond appropriately and express opinions using complete and coherent sentences.
- Encourage oral summarisation of stories, lessons and experiences.
- Use the textbook texts as starting points for discussion, questioning and sharing personal experiences.
- Encourage children to speak in complete sentences while explaining ideas, narrating events or expressing opinions.
- Ask children to retell stories, summarise paragraphs and explain poems in their own words.
- Provide opportunities for pair and group discussions using questions given in the textbook.

Reading

- Encourage regular reading of age-appropriate stories, poems, informational texts and conversations.
- Support children in applying comprehension strategies such as prediction, inference, identifying main ideas and sequencing events.
- Promote independent reading habits through classroom libraries and home reading.
- Encourage expressive reading aloud with proper pronunciation, stress and intonation.
- Before reading a text, encourage children to observe pictures, headings and keywords to predict content.
- During reading, guide children to pause and reflect on meaning, characters and events.
- After reading, use comprehension questions, vocabulary activities and tasks to deepen understanding.
- Encourage rereading of texts to improve fluency, expression and confidence.

Writing

- Provide guided practice before independent writing tasks.
- Encourage children to write short paragraphs, messages, invitations, simple poems, stories and dialogues.
- Support children in organising ideas logically using beginnings, middles and endings.
- Pay attention to sentence structure, basic grammar, spelling patterns and punctuations, without discouraging creativity.

- Ensure that children discuss ideas orally before writing.
- Use textbook exercises to guide children in writing short paragraphs, responses, descriptions and creative pieces.
- Encourage planning through sequencing, mind maps or discussion before independent writing.
- Allow children to revise their writing based on feedback rather than rewriting mechanically.

Vocabulary Development

- Enrich vocabulary through discussions, reading, classroom interactions and real-life contexts.
- Encourage children to use newly learned words in speech and writing.
- Highlight new words from the textbook and discuss their meanings using context.
- Encourage children to use newly learned words in sentences, conversations and written responses.
- Maintain a word wall or personal word notebook based on textbook lessons.

Pedagogical Approach

- Use activity-based, experiential and collaborative learning strategies.
- Integrate games, projects, creative tasks and digital resources to sustain interest.
- Parents should engage children in meaningful conversations, encourage reading at home and appreciate their efforts to communicate effectively in English.

Use of Exercises and Activities

- Treat exercises as tools for practice and reflection, not for rote learning.
- Encourage multiple correct responses wherever possible.
- Connect activities to children’s daily lives, surroundings and other subjects.

Role of Parents

- Encourage regular reading at home using the textbook and library books.
- Discuss stories and poems informally to develop comprehension and interest.
- Appreciate the child’s efforts in speaking and writing, focusing on improvement rather than errors.
- Ensure that each L.O. is focussed and ample practice is given to the learners.

Note : Use sign language and other pedagogical strategies for Children With Special Needs (CWSN) to communicate the content and acknowledge their responses.

Do you know?

- ♦ Look at the following pictures, identify them and say something about them.

(1) Listen and sing.

How beautiful is the rain!

After the dust and heat,

In the narrow lane,

How beautiful is the rain!

How it clatters along the roofs,

Like the tramp of hoofs!

How it gushes and struggles out

From the throat of the overflowing spout!

Across the window-pane

It pours and pours,

And swift and wide,

With a muddy tide,

Like a river down the gutter roars,

The rain, the welcome rain!

-Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

For the Teacher :

- Encourage learners to read poems related to rain.
- Motivate them to speak on different topics likewise.

(2) Observe the picture and write five sentences on it.

(3) Write down words related to rain from the picture.

- ♦ Why do we celebrate welcome day?

(1) Read and enact.

(All the friends meet at the playground.)

Mariya : Good evening, Saksham!

Saksham : Hi everyone! Good evening.

Rutva : Nice to meet you. How was your vacation?

Zayd : It was awesome! I enjoyed a lot.

Saksham : I am so excited about the reopening of our school tomorrow.

Mariya : How did you prepare for the first day?

Rutva : I have bought a new blue bag.

Saksham : I have bought a new red water bottle.

Zayd : I am looking for my raincoat. I bought it last year.

Mariya : I have an umbrella. It has rainbow colours.

Saksham : You know what! Our school is organizing a programme called 'Shala Praveshotsav'.

Rutva : What is that?

Zayd : It is a programme, to welcome the new learners, of every grade.

Mariya : That's great!

Saksham : All the classes are decorated beautifully. New learners will be welcomed by our teachers and parents, on the first day of school.

Rutva : I am really excited about the first day of school.

All together : Okay, let's meet tomorrow morning at school.

(2) Answer the following.

(c) Anna, Rutva and Zayd are going to school.

For the Teacher :

- Encourage learners to speak about first day of the school.
- Prepare word/sentence cards to drill the activity.
- Motivate them to write simple conversations on different topics.

Do you know?

- ♦ The names of seeds.
- ♦ When do the seeds grow?

(1) Listen and sing.

A seed so small beneath a ground,
Becomes a tree that's strong and sound.
It drinks the rain and feels the sun,
And soon its life has just begun.

It sends its roots so deep and tight,
To hold it firm both day and night.
The leaves go green, the branches spread,
The birds make nests above my head.

The tree gives shade, the flowers bloom,
it fills the air with sweet perfume.
From tiny seed to giant tree,
What wondrous thing a seed can be!

-Anonymous

Read and learn.

beneath : under strong and sound : healthy and firm

roots : parts of the plant that grow underground bloom : a period of flowering wondrous : wonderful

(2) Label the parts of the plant.

(3) Find and write pair of rhyming words from the poem.

(4) Answer the following.

- Where does the seed grow?
- Tell the names of seedless fruits.
- What do you understand by the line, “ It drinks the rain and feels the sun.”

(5) Write few lines about importance of trees and present it before the class.

(6) Write describing words. (For example : small seed)

..... roots perfume
..... tree leaves

(7) Read and complete the following.

For example :

‘ong’ - strong ,	l	wr.....
‘ound’ - round ,	gr.....	s.....
‘gr’ - grow ,	ass,	een

(8) I need to grow !

For the Teacher :

- Encourage learners to sow a seed and take care of it.
- Guide them to label the different things in the classroom and school surrounding.
- Motivate them to observe and write how plant grows.

Do you know?

- ◆ Name the things that grow on trees and we eat.
- ◆ Which fruit is called the king of fruits?

(1) Read carefully.

A farmer was living with his daughter Aditi, who was in Grade Three. The farmer owned a large orchard including number of fruit trees.

One day he saw a barren mango tree. It didn't bare any fruit. Aditi said to her father, "Baba, look at this tree. There are so many nests in which birds are living. It also has a big hive, with number of bees." Farmer replied, "It is of no use. It doesn't bear any fruit. We must cut it down."

Read and learn.

barren tree : tree without fruit.

orchard : a piece of land planted with fruit trees.

owned : to possess

pleaded : requested

destroy : to damage

Next day the farmer decided to cut the tree. He started using his axe. Aditi was upset, she didn't want the tree to be cut. Suddenly a bird pleaded, "Please don't cut this tree. If you cut it down, we will have no shelter." The farmer replied, "I am sorry, I can't help you. It will be better if you leave this tree." He continued to cut the tree. Aditi could not bear it. She said, "Baba, this tree is a shelter for many bird families including baby birds and bees. We should not destroy their nests, please don't cut this tree. The trees give us oxygen and shade which is important to human beings. What will we do if someone breaks our house? Where would we go? We should not cut this tree." The farmer realised the importance of trees. He took back his decision. Aditi felt happy. All birds started chirping with happiness.

(2) Name the trees which give us the following things.

	Name of trees fruits flowers medicines
wood for furniture

(3) Read the story and complete the following sentences.

The farmer owned
 He saw
 He wanted to
 The farmer
 the importance of trees.

Aditi was in
 Aditi was upset

 Aditi wanted to save

(4) Enlist the characters from the story.

(5) Create a poster on "Save Trees, Save Earth" and write about it.

Do you know?

- ♦ The names of the fairies.
- ♦ The things that happen in fairy tales.

(1) Read and learn.

Siya used to sell flowers in the day-time. With the money she earned, she purchased food for her little brothers. One day, when Siya was picking some Pansies to sell from her garden, she suddenly became sick. So, she returned home early.

In the evening, she was sad as there was a little food for her brothers. The fairy of heaven was observing her hard work and the care that she took of her brothers. So she wanted to help Siya. At night, the fairy came to her garden and watered her flowers with magical water.

Next day Siya felt better, she went to her garden and what she saw stunned her. Her garden was filled with blooming flowers. She wondered about who had watered her flowers. Next day when she went to the market to sell those flowers many buyers bought them. Finally, she had plenty of food to feed her brothers.

(2) Find the meanings of new words by using dictionary.

♦ pansies ♦ stunned ♦ wonder ♦ heaven ♦ purchase

(3) Read the story and find the opposites for the following.

- (a) sell × (b) happy ×
(c) little × (d) early ×

(4) Answer the following.

- (a) How did the fairy of heaven help Siya?
(b) Describe Siya in your own words.
(c) Why did the fairy help Siya? What do you think?
(d) How do you help your brother or sister?

(5) Read and understand the following words.

sell - sold - selling take - took - taking feel - felt - feeling go - went - going buy - bought - buying

stun - stunned -stunning purchase - purchased - purchasing is - was - is being see - saw - seeing feed - fed - feeding

(6) Retell the story by changing its end.

(8) Game time.

Instructions :

- ♦ Take seven glasses.
- ♦ Fill them up with different amount of water.
- ♦ Tap them with a spoon to make sound.
- ♦ Make a 'Jaltarang'.

For the Teacher :

- Encourage learners to read fairy tales likewise.
- Motivate them to write simple and short stories on different topics.

Do you know?

- ♦ The names of few insects.
- ♦ Where do we often see ants?

(1) Read and learn.

I'm one of the tiniest but busiest creatures on the Earth. An ant! Yes, you've seen me marching in a line with my friends, carrying food or tiny pieces of leaves. I live together with my big family called a colony. We all have our own special jobs.

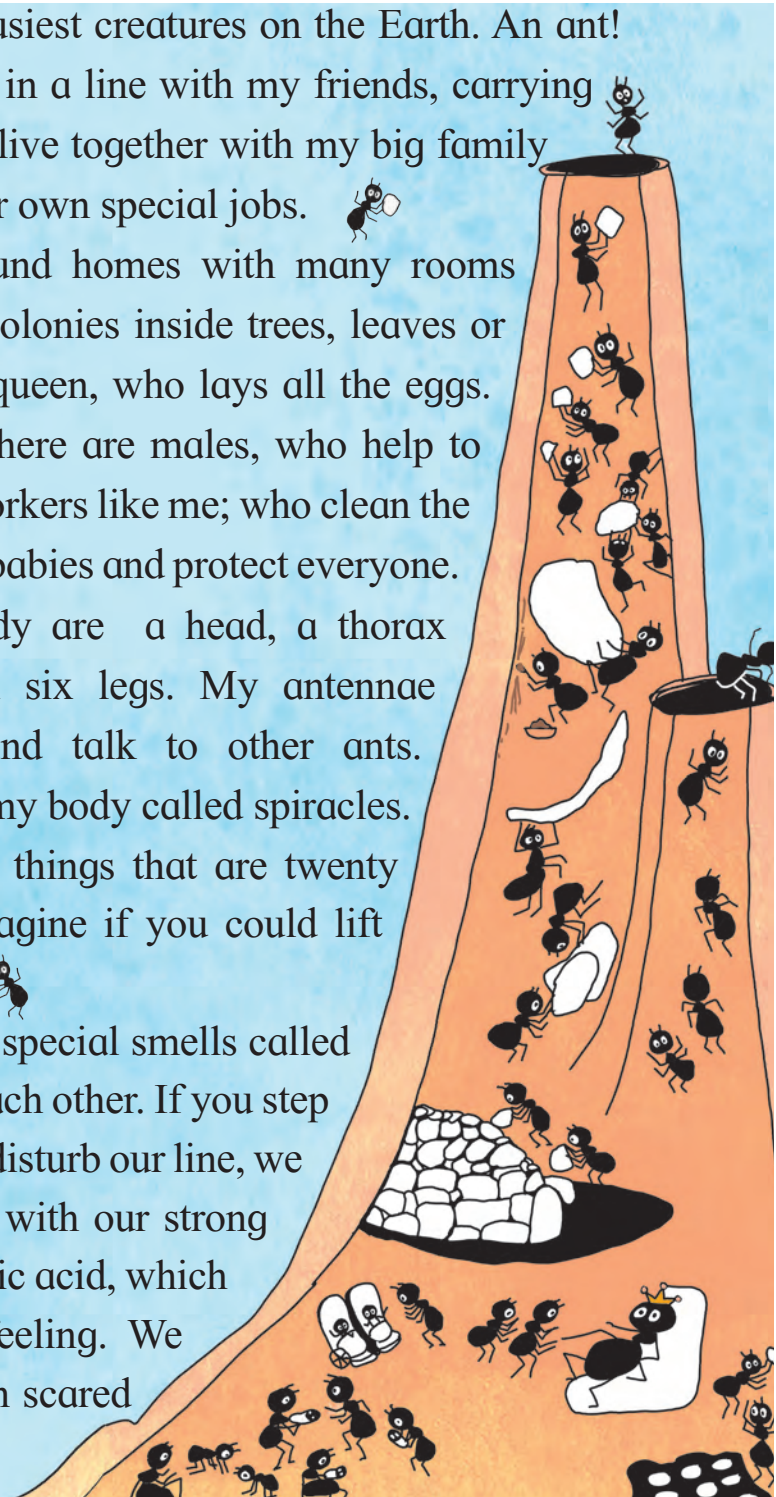

Some ants build underground homes with many rooms and tunnels. Other ants build colonies inside trees, leaves or even walls. Our colony has a queen, who lays all the eggs. She's the mother of us. Then there are males, who help to start new colonies. There are workers like me; who clean the nest, find food, take care of the babies and protect everyone.

The three parts of my body are a head, a thorax and an abdomen. I walk on six legs. My antennae helps me to smell, touch and talk to other ants. I breathe through tiny holes in my body called spiracles. Amazing, isn't it? I can carry things that are twenty times heavier than myself. Imagine if you could lift a car that much strong I am!

We talk to each other using special smells called pheromones. We always help each other. If you step near our anthill, touch them, or disturb our line, we feel we are in danger. We bite with our strong jaws and sting and release formic acid, which causes a burning or itching feeling. We defend ourselves and run, when scared just like you.

Read and learn.

abdomen : the rear section of an insects body.

spiracles : external respiratory openings.

pheromones : chemical substances released by an animal.

We are very attentive, united, disciplined and hardworking. That's why people say, “Be busy and united like ants!”

(1) Listen and enact.

Once upon a time with a farmer there lived few animals on his farm. The calf, the kid and the kitten were very good friends. They used to play together. One day

Friends, let's go for a picnic! 	Hey that's a good idea! 	But where can we go? 	Let's go to the river side.
But there is a big forest near river side. 	Yes! And there are many wild animals too. 	So what! I am not scared. 	Let's first take permission of our parents. 	No no! If we go to seek the permission of our parents, they will not allow us to go.
It's true, but what to do? 	Let's go now, we will be back before it gets dark. 	Ok, let's go now. 	Hey, picnic!

So, now the kitten, the calf and the kid started their picnic towards the river. On the way the calf and the kid enjoyed eating fresh green grass. The Hello everyone!

Tweet! Tweet! I am a Weaver Bird.
People also call me the little house builder.
I am small, yellow and brown.
I live near rivers and trees.
Do you know what I love the most?
I love to build nests-strong and neat!
I use grass, twigs and leaves.
I fly up and down,
In and out,
Weaving my home all day long.
My nest hangs like a basket from the branch.
When the wind blows,
It swings like a cradle.
Whee... how fun!
I work very hard,
But I never get tired.
I sing while I work-
“Chirp! Chirp! Keep trying! Don’t stop!”
Sometimes, my nest breaks in the rain.
Do I cry? No!
I just start again,
Because I know-
Hard work makes a home strong!
So, my dear friends,
Always try again when things go wrong.
Be like me - the little Weaver bird-
Smart, happy and hardworking!
Thank you!

- ♦ How you spend your holidays?

(1) Read aloud.

Pihu was a cheerful girl. She was a little stubborn. She like to play games on the mobile phone. She liked games, cartoons and funny reels more than reading books.

One afternoon, Pihu's mother had to go out for some work. She said, "Pihu, stay at home. I'll be back soon." Pihu pouted and said, "Please give me your mobile. I'll be good!"

Mother smiled and gave her the phone. The moment the mobile came into Pihu's hands, she was very excited. She played her favorite games again and again.

She watched cartoons, reels and videos. She forgot the time and watched the videos continuously. Suddenly, bzzzz! The mobile started shaking. A faint voice said, "Pihu... I'm tired... I need rest!"

Pihu dropped the phone in fear.

"Who is talking?" she asked.

The mobile laughed and said, "It's me! Moby, the Mobile. You have been using me for so long!"

“I am feeling overheated and drained. I am tired now”, said Moby. Pihu laughed and said, “Can a mobile really get tired?” Moby replied, “Yes! I help you talk to friends, learn new things, send messages and watch videos. But too much use is not good for me and you.”

“Too much screen time can damage your eyes and health,” said Moby seriously. “You should play outside, read books and sleep on time.” Pihu felt sorry. She quickly found the charger and plugged in the mobile and said, “I promise you. I will use you wisely.” Moby smiled happily. “Good girl! Now I need rest.”

Pihu kept the mobile aside and picked up her storybook. She also decided to play outside with her friends. Both Pihu and Moby were happy.

Maths on my fingers

In your head and hands you've got a computer! It's a marvellous machine that can make multiplications by 9, for example a very simple operation.

Let's multiply 4 by 9 just to show you how your digital computer works.

- Hold out your hands.
- Count off from left to right until you reach the fourth finger and fold it down.
- Now look at your hands and you've got the answer. There are 3 fingers to the left of the folded finger and 6 to the right: the answer is 36.
- Try it out a few times and you'll find it never fails.
- Show your friends how to multiply 3×9 ; 7×9 ; 5×9 ; 8×9 and 9×9 on their fingers.

- ◆ Names of some saints from Maharashtra.
- ◆ Any Abhang written by the saint.

(1) Read and learn.

Once, the famous saint from Paithan, Sant Eknath Maharaj, along with other saint and disciples, was on a pilgrimage to Rameshwaram. They were carrying a pot filled with holy water from the river Ganga, brought all the way from Kashi. According to the custom of the time, their pilgrimage would conclude after they offer this holy water at the Rameshwaram temple, which would bring them great merit.

As they walked towards Rameshwaram, it was the middle of a hot day. Everyone was chanting the name of God while walking in the scorching Sun. Along the way, they saw a donkey that had collapsed on the roadside, dying of thirst. Sant Eknath immediately understood the animal's distress and knew, it needed water.

Without a second thought, he approached the donkey and poured the precious holy water that he had carefully carried from Kashi (Varanasi), into its mouth. The thirsty donkey drank the water, got back on its feet and began to walk. Sant Eknath's act of saving the donkey's life by giving it the sacred water left his companions and disciples stunned.

They exclaimed, "Maharaj! What have you done? We brought this holy water from the river Ganga all the way from Kashi (Varanasi). You gave it to a donkey! This will bring you bad karma and you have insulted the river Ganga and Rameshwaram."

Read and learn.

pilgrimage : a journey to a holy place.

custom : a traditional practice.

chanting : repeating prayers again and again.

scorching : extremely hot.

abhang : a devotional song in praise of god Vitthal.

bharuda : a traditional Marathi folk art that combines music, humour and moral.

To this, Sant Eknath humbly replied, "My dear companions, the donkey's life was at risk due to thirst. This water has saved its life. Saving the life of a thirsty animal is an important act of humanity. We should always show compassion towards others." Hearing this, the other saint and disciples understood his greatness. They continued their journey with new found wisdom.

No one thought that she would live anymore. But will-power of Bhagyashree defeated death. But unfortunately, both her legs became disabled from the waist. She suddenly became disabled in her youth and her life went into the shadow of darkness.

In the beginning, she wanted to become a teacher, but after her father's death, her dream remained unfulfilled. She resolved to become self-reliant and fight back. Leaving the village of Honwadaj, she took admission in a girl's hostel at Nanded to complete her higher education. When she was in trouble, Mr. Prakash Kamble, a journalist helped and encouraged her to participate in sports competitions meant for disabled.

In the Mayor's Cup Sports Competition held in Pune in 2017, she won gold medals in Shot Put and Javelin Throw and a bronze medal in Discus Throw. In 2018, she won a gold medal in Shot Put at state-level sports competition held in Kolhapur. While this sports journey was going on, she completed her post graduation in 2019. She made her first international debut in Para Open Championship held in China. She made Indians proud, by winning bronze medals in Shot Put and Javelin Throw. She was praised all over the country.

Her dream was to participate in the Olympics and Asian Games. Her monthly expenses for preparation of the competition were fifty thousand rupees. Due to the lockdown, she decided to leave Pune and returned to Nanded. Even during this lockdown, her regular practice was going at the Old Drill ground of the police headquarters in Nanded.

Bhagyashree earned first rank in Shot Put at National Level Sports Competition held in Bengaluru, 2020. She represented India at summer Paralympics 2020, Feja world cup

Do you know?

- ♦ The names of the festivals.
- ♦ The name of festivals celebrated for brothers and sisters.

(1) Read and understand.

Sanskrit Day, Narali Pournima and Raksha Bandhan are celebrated on the same day - the full moon day of the month of Shravan (Shravan Pournima). Hence, these three festivals share a close connection with each other.

Raksha Bandhan, the festival celebrates the strong bond between brothers and sisters. Narali Pournima is mainly celebrated in the Konkan and coastal area close to the sea. On this day, Koli people offer a coconut to the sea. They pray for their safety and prosperity. This festival too symbolizes protection, as it expresses the wish for the safety of those who venture into the sea.

Similarly, Sanskrit Day is also observed on this day because Sanskrit is considered the root language of Indian culture. Both Sanskrit and Raksha Bandhan reflect the values of Indian tradition, knowledge and cultural unity.

Thus, Shravan Pournima is not merely a day of festivals. It is a celebration of safety, culture and faith.

Read and learn.

My Aai woke up early-this morning. "Get ready quickly, we are going to Grandma's village today," she said. My Dada (elder brother) and I started our preparations.

"I have already packed our bag. You just pack your toys and the study material for your Diwali vacation homework," Aai instructed. So I packed my doll and my favourite kitchen set toys. Along with that,

I packed a story book and the Diwali homework book. Our teacher has given us a lot of homework this time. I have to complete my studies. Otherwise, the teacher will scold me. My brother packed his chessboard, bat and ball along with his Diwali holiday homework book.

"Don't take too much toys, take only what is necessary. After going to Grandma's village, we also have to go to other aunts' and uncles' villages. You won't get much time to play," said Aai. "You also have to complete your Diwali homework too." said Aai.

My Dada and I finished packing our bags. Aai had already packed bags yesterday. She prepared breakfast and we waited for Baba. He had gone to give some school papers to his friend. We were very excited to go to Grandma's village. Grandma had called yesterday to ask when we would be leaving. Baba arrived while we were having breakfast. After he had his breakfast, he turned off the main light switch and the gas cylinder knob. By then, we had already kept our bags in the car and were waiting for our parents. We were eager for them to come down, so we could leave. Just then, Aai and Baba arrived and we set off for Grandma's village.

He saw his friend, Rami the rabbit, munching on carrots. "Hee hee! Look, Rami, I'm so smart now." Miku giggled. Rami just blinked.

Miku saw the wise old owl, Professor Hoot and asked. "Why does the sky look so blue today? Is it because of my new glasses?"

Professor Hoot blinked slowly. "My dear Miku," he said, "The sky has always been blue. Your glasses are just dark and making everything look a little dim."

Miku sniggered, "You just don't have glasses like mine!" He tried to show off by swinging from a tree branch, but the sunglasses slid down his nose. He tumbled into a bush.

He got up, covered in leaves, and tried to find the glasses. He looked high and low but couldn't see them anywhere.

Just then, Rami hopped "Miku! Are you looking for these?" Rami asked, holding up the sunglasses in his paw. "You must have dropped them when you fell."

Miku looked at Rami, then at the sunglasses and felt ashamed. He said "I thought they made me look smarter, but they just made me clumsy and unable to see properly." Really we should never pretend to be like others."

Do you know?

- ♦ Which forts are there in Maharashtra?
- ♦ Discuss the 'Bravery Award', with your parents.

(1) Read, understand and discuss.

Many years ago, there lived a brave woman named Hirakani, near the Raigad fort in Maharashtra. This fort was the capital of Empire/Swaraj of the great Maratha King, Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. Every day, Hirakani used to come up the steep hill to sell milk to the people living inside the fort. She would finish her work and return home to her village before the fort gates closed at sunset.

One evening, as she was about to leave, Saanj Chaughada (sunset drums) rang. The gates were closed for the night. It was the rule, not to open the gates at night for anyone. Hirakani pleaded with the guards to let her go because her little baby was alone at home. The guards could not disobey the king's orders. Hirakani was worried about her baby. Her heart was filled with love and courage. She decided to do something which no one had ever dared to do. She would climb down the dangerous cliff of Raigad.

In the dark night, without any fear, Hirakani climbed down the steep and rocky side of the fort wall-a path where even men were afraid to go during the day. She held on to rocks and branches and slowly made her way down from the dangerous cliff. At last, she reached her home and hugged her baby.

Next morning, when Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj heard about this brave act, he was amazed. He called Hirakani to the fort and admired her courage and affection towards her baby. As a mark of respect, he ordered that a small wall (bastion) be built at the place where Hirakani had climbed down. (Pooja, a little girl has come home after getting injured. Her grandmother is trying to comfort her.)

Pooja : (while crying), Aaji, I fell while playing and my knee got injured. It's bleeding.

Aaji : Pooja, first you calm down! Drink some water and show me where you got injured.

Pooja : Look, Aaji, it's paining a lot.

Aaji : Don't worry my dear!

Pooja : Aaji, do we need to go to the doctor now?

Aaji : No, need dear. You sit here quietly. (Aaji goes into the kitchen and brings a clean cloth, turmeric, cotton roll and water.)

Pooja : Aaji, why have you brought all these things?

Aaji : These are home remedies. Just wait and observe me. We should first clean the wound with a clean wet cloth, then apply turmeric to the wound. Then put a clean cotton pad and tie the wound with a cloth bandage.

Pooja : Aaji, will I feel better if you apply turmeric?

Aaji : Yes, Turmeric is an antiseptic. It helps to prevent bleeding.

Pooja : Aaji, in our school, there is a first aid box.

Aaji : Oh, that's a good thing. We have many medicinal plants in our yard that we can use as medicines.

Pooja : Aaji, tell me which things we can use as medicines.

Aaji : There are Tulsi and Adulsa plants. We can make a Kadha of its leaves and drink it for getting relief from cough.

Pooja : Yes Aaji, Aloe vera is useful for burns and skin care.

Aaji : Good! Pooja, ginger, ajwain and clove from the spice box can also be used as medicines. Honey should always be kept at home as it is useful for health.

Pooja : Aaji, you mean our home is a pharmacy?

Aaji : Yes! People use these natural things as medicines. However we must use them wisely, considering their medicinal properties.

Pooja : Wow! I got relief from pain, feeling better now. Thank you Aaji! You are my Doctor Aaji. Now I will share all this information with my friends in my school.

Maru Mahotsav - The Desert Comes AliveDo you know?

- ◆ The fair of your village?
- ◆ What different things can be seen there?

(1) Read aloud.A virtual field trip to Maru Mahotsav Rajasthan !!

Khamma Ghani
 My friends. My name is Kunwar and I am Kesar.
 Come let's go to our state to celebrate "Maru Mahotsav".

The Maru Mahotsav, also called the Desert Festival of Jaisalmer. It has its roots in the ancient desert culture and royal traditions of Rajasthan. The word "Maru" means "desert" in the local language. Long ago, the people of Jaisalmer lived in the middle of the Thar Desert, far from cities. Life was hard, but they stayed happy through music, dance and folk art. To celebrate their courage, joy and colourful lifestyle, the kings of Jaisalmer started local folk gatherings and fairs. These small fairs later became the grand Maru Mahotsav. It was a time when villagers from faraway places came together to share songs, show their camels, perform dances, and sell handmade crafts. The festival also honours the rich heritage of the Rajputs and their connection with the desert. Today, Maru Mahotsav keeps this old tradition alive-celebrating the spirit, bravery, art and culture of desert people. It reminds everyone that even in the hot desert, life can be bright, colourful, and full of joy!

- ♦ The names of different astronauts.
- ♦ The vocabulary related to earth, stars, astronaut, planets.

(1) Read aloud.

There was a boy named Aryaveer studying in Grade Three. He was very interested in knowing about space, astronauts and scientists. He used to talk constantly and read about them. One night he dreamt about an astronaut.

Aryaveer : Wow! Are you really an astronaut? (Scared and surprised) Astronaut : Don't be scared! I am an astronaut. I've flown high above the Earth all the way into space.

Aryaveer : Have you been to space? That's amazing! How does Earth look like from up there?

Astronaut : It's beautiful like a big blue marble floating in darkness. No borders, just oceans, clouds and land.

Aryaveer : Did you see the Sun? Is it super close?

Astronaut : Yes, we see the Sun shining so bright without any clouds. It's like a golden fireball in a sea of black.

Aryaveer : Do stars twinkle in space like they do from Earth?

Astronaut : No, stars don't twinkle in space. They shine steadily, like tiny lanterns in the dark. The twinkling only happens down on the earth because of Earth's atmosphere.

Aryaveer : What do you eat up there? Space pizza?

Astronaut : (laughs) I wish! We eat special space food, it is preserved in pouches and in dehydrated form. That means water has to be added before the food can be catered.

Aryaveer : Do you miss, Earth when you're up there?

Astronaut : Yes, very much. Especially the fresh air, trees, and the sound of rain. But being in space reminds me how precious Earth really is.

Aryaveer : I want to be an astronaut too one day!

Astronaut : And you can! Stay curious, work hard, learn science and never stop dreaming.

Aryaveer : Yes sure! Sir I really like to study. I am very grateful to you sir for coming to meet me.

(When Aryaveer is deeply involved in dream just then a voice says, "Wake up, Bala, it's morning. You'll be late for school." Aryaveer quickly wakes up. He runs towards his mother to share his wonderful dream.)

(2) Write about your dream in about 10-15 sentences.

(3) Enact the conversation.

(4) Explain the life on Earth and the life in Space in your own words.

- Motivate them to collect information about astronauts.

(1) Read aloud.

India is a land with full of colourful traditions, art and symbols. One of the most beautiful symbols of India is the peacock, which is our National Bird. In 1963, the peacock was officially chosen as India's National Bird because it represents beauty, pride and grace. Its bright blue neck and long, colourful feathers make it one of the most amazing birds in the world.

The peacock is famous for its bright feathers, which shine in green, blue, and gold. The feathers have patterns that look like eyes, and when the peacock spreads them, it creates a magnificent fan. The female peacock, called a peahen, is not as colourful. She has brown or grey feathers that help her hide while taking care of her eggs. The peacock also has small, delicate strings on top of its head, called a crest. These strings stand up like tiny crowns and add to the bird's beauty. When the peacock dances, the crest bounces slightly, making the bird look even more graceful and royal.

Peacocks live in many parts of India, including forests, farmlands, and villages. They like areas with trees and open spaces, which give them food and safe places to sleep. At night, they fly up into tall trees to stay safe from animals like foxes and wild dogs.

Peacocks eat both plants and small animals, so they are called omnivores. Their food includes seeds, fruits, grains, insects, small snakes and tiny reptiles. Their sharp eyes help them find food and they help farmers by eating pests. The peahen lays about three to five eggs in a quiet nest on the ground and takes care of the baby chicks after they hatch.

The dance of the peacock is one of nature's most beautiful sights. During the monsoon season, when dark clouds fill the sky, the peacock spreads its long feathers and dances in circles. Each step and flap is like a celebration of nature. This graceful bird has inspired Indian artists and weavers for hundreds of years. For example, the Paithani sarees of Maharashtra often have peacock designs in gold and colourful threads, showing royalty and elegance.

Peacocks face dangers from loss of homes, pollution and hunting. But in India, peacocks are protected by law and it is illegal to harm them. Efforts are also made to protect their natural habitat.

Peacocks are very special in Indian culture. Their feathers are used in temples and religious rituals, showing purity and divine energy. In Indian art, they appear in paintings, jewellery, carvings and clothes. In classical dances like Bharatanatyam and Kathak, peacock movements show beauty and elegance. Peacocks also help farmers by eating harmful insects. Their dance is said to bring happiness and their call is believed to announce rain.

The peacock is not just a bird it is a symbol of India's natural beauty, culture and spiritual traditions.

- ◆ How to help your family? Discuss with your friends.

(1) Read aloud.

Once in Kashmir, there lived a man named Manas. He was very good at embroidery and made beautiful shawls. He was soft-spoken, honest and hardworking. He earned a lot of money. He built a big house and bought a houseboat.

Manas had three sons, Akash, Vivek and Yatharth. The elder two never learned embroidery, but the youngest, Yatharth, practiced and became good at it.

One day, Manas became very sick. He called his three sons and said, "My dear children, I am old now. I want to divide what I have among you so that there will be no dispute regarding the property later." Akash, the eldest, said, "Father, I want the house."

Vivek the second, said "Then I will take the houseboat."

Now only one thing was left which was the skill of embroidery.

Yatharth, the youngest, said, "Father, I will take the skill of embroidery. I am happy with it."

Manas blessed Yatharth and taught him embroidery carefully. Soon Yatharth became perfect in the art.

After Manas died, Akash sent his brothers away. Vivek lived in the houseboat. Yatharth rented a small house and worked hard. Within a short period, Yatharth became accomplished as like his father. His shawls became famous and he earned good money. He married Nisha and they lived happily.

One day, an earthquake broke Akash's house and a storm sank Vivek's houseboat. Both brothers lost everything. Now Akash and Vivek came weeping to Yatharth along with their families, asking for shelter in his big house. Akash said, "I feel sorry to have turned you out of the house." Vivek said, "I am sorry too I did not take care of you and rendered you homeless."

Yatharth and Nisha forgave them and said, "You can live with us. We are one family."

It was Nisha who came forward and brought a happy reunion among the brothers. They embraced each other and began to live together.
