Tele MANAS Helpline

Tele MANAS (Tele Mental Health Assistance and Networking Across States) (14416/ 1800-89-14416)

Under the National Mental Health Program, the centrally sponsored scheme Tele MANAS is being implemented in the state of Maharashtra from October 2022. Under the Tele MANAS Program, free 24×7 integrated and comprehensive mental health services are provided through the helpline number 14416. This includes treatment and counselling by experts for various mental problems. The information provided by you after calling the Tele MANAS helpline remains completely confidential, so students, parents and teachers should feel free to call the helpline number and tell them about their problems and doubts and get guidance on it. Tell others to take help from this facility as well.

Manodarpan

The Manodarpan Helpline (8448440632) is a free telephone service that has been made available since July 2020. It is provided by the Ministry of Education through the Manodarpan Cell at the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) to offer psychological guidance and support to students, parents and teachers. This service is available every day of the week from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM. Students, parents and teachers can call this helpline to receive the necessary guidance and counseling.

This textbook aligns with the curriculum and syllabus developed by the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT), Maharashtra, Pune-30. PLEDGE

India is my country. All Indians are my brothers and sisters.

I love my country, and I am proud of its rich and varied heritage. I shall always strive to be worthy of it.

I shall give my parents, teachers and all elders respect, and treat everyone with courtesy.

To my country and my people,
I pledge my devotion. In their well-being and prosperity alone lies my happiness.

Preface

Dear learners,

This Balbharati English Textbook has been a steady friend through the school years of all learners who choose the State Board curriculum in Maharashtra. It has been an integral part of shaping the learning process of English language and literature. It forms a substantial part of the nostalgia for many adults because it successfully implants in the learner the value of language proficiency.

This sixth standard English textbook for English medium is promising because it hopes to remain in your memory. NEP 2020 has reiterated the need for a holistic approach to studying language and literature. While emphasizing the importance of literature, this book also highlights the joy of learning the English language. Skill-augmenting activities that form the chief cornerstone of NEP 2020 are abundantly used to inculcate the desired skills. Building proficiency through its various activities, this book stresses on the value of listening, speaking, reading and writing. The goal of this textbook is to bolster the four aforementioned skills while encapsulating the spirit of NEP 2020 in every page by highlighting the core-competencies, local relevance, inclusion and equity.

The following eclectic mix of themes namely gender equality, patriotism, cultural awareness, sports, environmental-consciousness, courage under pressure or danger, friendship, cuisine-culture, mindfulness, media literacy, fantasy underscore the need of the 21st century life skills and values. Since you are at a formative stage of your lives, the textbook has incorporated stories of inspirational figures from contemporary India and ancient India thus bridging the gap between modern and ancient Indian knowledge systems. Further, this textbook fosters an interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary approach to learning and thus constructs you to be ready to face the challenges of the 21st century. Additionally, the pleasure of reading and studying the English language will also motivate you to understand English literature and literatures in other languages.

The beautiful illustrations in the textbook will appeal to your aesthetic and imaginative tenor. You will surely be excited to browse through this textbook repeatedly. The words and visuals complement each other to provide an entertaining and educative experience to both the learner and the facilitator. Hence, may this visually and content-wise appealing textbook be a vista to many more experiences with the written and the spoken word in English.

1.1 The School Bell Rings Again...

FOR FREE DISTRIBUTION

Warm-up :

• Think and write.

New things I want to learn this year.

1. Read and recite.

A new school year and a brand new start,
A year in which we will all take part.

So “buckle up” and off we’ll go,
There are so many things we want to know!

Now that we are in Grade Six,
New things will be added to the learning mix.

Difficult calculations, forms of writing;
Each term will be so exciting!
I think that as a classroom clan,
Our motto should be, “Yes, we can!”
So let’s begin, commence, get cracking;
Just remember there should be no slacking!

-Anonymous

Word Basket :

- buckle up : to get ready or prepare for something intense, exciting
- clan : a group of families who are related to each other
- commence : to start or begin
- slacking : decrease or reduce in intensity, quantity or speed

2. Read the following questions and tick ☒ the correct answer.

(i) What does the poem describe at the start?

- | | |
|---|---|
| (a) The end of the school year ☐ | (b) A holiday trip ☐ |
| (c) A new school year ☐ | (d) A sports day ☐ |

(ii) What does “buckle up” suggest in the poem?

(a) Sit quietly ☐

(b) Get ready for a journey ☐

(c) Wear a uniform ☐

(d) Be careful ☐

(iii) Which Grade are the students in?

(a) Grade Four ☐

(b) Grade Five ☐

(c) Grade Six ☐

(d) Grade Seven ☐

(iv) What new things will be added to the learning mix?

(a) Games and songs ☐

(b) Difficult calculations and writing ☐

(c) Painting and drawing ☐

(d) Dancing and singing ☐

(v) How does the poet feel about each school term?

(a) Boring ☐

(b) Tiring ☐

(c) Exciting ☐

(d) Fearful ☐

3. Discuss in pairs and answer the following.

(i) What is the poem about?

(ii) How does the poet describe each school term?

(iii) How was your first day in the school? Explain in 2 or 3 sentences.

4. Find and write rhyming words from the poem for the following.

(i) start -

(ii) go -

(iii) cracking -

(iv) writing -

5. Complete the following tree diagram.

Two new things you learnt in Grade Five

◆ Poetic Device :

Alliteration

Alliteration is a figure of speech where the same initial consonant sound is repeated in a series of nearby words.

e.g. “A year in which we will all take part.”

6. Find more examples of Alliteration from the poem.

For the Facilitator :

- Explain Alliteration with more examples from other poems.
- Ask the learners to find more poems related to ‘school’ from the school library or E-library.

1.2 Self Help is the Only Way

Warm-up :

- List the things you do yourself.
 - What do you do if nobody helps you when you need it?
- a) You give up b) You cry c) You try yourself

1. Read aloud.

There was a family of larks which lived in a cozy nest in a field of ripe corn; they lived happily with all the bonds of love and affection.

One fine morning the mother lark, before going out to find food for her children, said, “The farmer will come soon to reap his corn and in that case we shall have to find a new home. So you keep your eyes and ears open today and tell me what you see and hear, when I come home tonight.”

When the lark came home in the evening she found her family very disturbed. “Oh mother!” they cried, “We shall have to leave this place as soon as possible. The farmer came with his sons to make a survey of the field.”

The farmer said to his sons, “The corn is ready for cutting. We shall have to call all our neighbours to reap it tomorrow.”

The mother lark gave a patient hearing to her young ones and said with a smile, “There is no danger yet. Be on your alert tomorrow also. Keep your eyes and ears open and tell me everything they discuss. This is very important.”

Next day in the evening when the lark returned, she found the little larks terribly frightened, “We must leave this place by tomorrow at any cost,” they cried. “The farmer had come here again and said this corn needs to be cut at once. If your neighbours don’t come we shall call our relatives. Go and tell your uncles and cousins that we need their help to reap the corn tomorrow.”

The mother lark smiled again and said, “Don’t worry, my little hearts! The relatives of the farmer have their own crops to reap. They will give priority to their own work. But we shouldn’t become carefree. Listen to their conversation tomorrow also and let me know everything.”

The next day again she went out. When she returned in the evening, the baby larks cried, “Oh mother! The farmer said today that since his neighbours and relatives were busy in their fields, he himself would come tomorrow to reap the corn. So now there is no point in staying here any more.”

“In that case,” said the mother lark. “We have to be quick. Let us leave this place without any delay. I am saying this because I know, if someone depends on others to do his work it will never be done. But once he takes up his work in his own hands and is determined to do it himself, there is no power on earth that can stop him from doing it. So, now this is the right time when we must leave this place.”

Indeed ‘Self-Help’ is always preferable to other’s help.

Word Basket :

- cozy : warm, comfortable and pleasant
- reap : to cut or gather (crops, especially grain)
- survey : to examine or inspect (a place or area)
- priority : something that is most important and should be dealt with first
- determined : having made a firm decision to do something
- preferable : more desirable or suitable.

2. Read the story carefully and describe the changes in the farmer’s decision.

2.
1. To call

3. Discuss in pair and find the answers.

- (i) Where did the family of larks live?
- (ii) Why did the mother lark go outside?

- (iii) What made the mother lark decide that it was time for them to leave the nest?
- (iv) How can you apply the lesson of ‘Self-Help’ to your studies or personal goals?
- (v) Do you think the farmer would have reaped the corn if he had relied on his neighbours and relatives? Why or why not?

4. Find the main characters from the story and write their qualities.

5. Make sentences with the following phrases.

- (i) keep your eyes and ears open (ii) at any cost

6. Imagine the farmer had decided to reap the corn himself from the beginning. How would the story have been different? Write a short alternative ending.

7. Recent news reports have highlighted the increasing instances of wild animals entering residential areas, causing fear and disruption among locals. Discuss why these wild animals frequently stray into villages/cities? Collect newspaper cuttings and other information from reliable resources.

◆ Articles :

1.3 Mindfulness

Warm-up :

- When do you find people around you with these expressions?

1. Read the article.

Mindfulness is an important tool that helps us handle the challenges of daily life. When we bring our attention to the present moment, we learn to respond to stress and difficult emotions in a calmer and more thoughtful way.

One of the main benefits of mindfulness is its ability to reduce stress and anxiety. In today's fast-paced world, people often worry about the future. Practicing mindfulness helps break this cycle by bringing our focus back to the present. By paying attention to our breath, body and surroundings, we can develop a sense of calm and clarity.

Mindfulness also improves our focus and concentration. It can even have physical health benefits. Research suggests that mindfulness practices such as meditation and yoga can reduce blood pressure, improve immunity and decrease chronic pain. It can also help us sleep better, which is important for overall physical and mental health.

So how can we include mindfulness in our daily lives? One way is to set aside time for meditation or yoga. But mindfulness can also be practised during everyday activities like walking, eating or washing dishes.

A simple mindfulness exercise is the ‘three-minute breathing space’. To try this, sit comfortably and close your eyes. Focus on your breathing and notice how the air moves in and out of your body. If your mind starts to wander, gently bring it back to your breath. After a few minutes, slowly open your eyes and become aware of your surroundings.

Another practice is ‘sensory awareness’, where you pay attention to the sights, sounds, smells, tastes and sensations around you. You can try this while walking, cooking or even sitting in traffic.

Remember, mindfulness is a skill that takes time to learn. It is okay if your mind wanders at first. The important thing is to be patient and kind to yourself. With regular practice, mindfulness can become a powerful tool for managing stress and improving well-being.

Word Basket :

- mindfulness : paying full attention to the present moment
- thoughtful : thinking carefully before acting
- anxiety : a feeling of worry or fear
- fast-paced : happening very quickly
- wander : to move away without purpose or to lose focus

Love for One's Motherland

Let's talk :

- How can you serve or show love for your country as a student?
e.g. keeping surrounding clean.

1. Read the story.

There is a small country named Ethiopia in Africa. About one hundred years ago, some tourists from European countries went to Ethiopia to see the country. They liked the natural beauty and the people of that proud country. The group of tourists were staying in an inn. They would go out early in the morning to see the natural wonders of that land. The Ethiopians looked keenly at those strange foreigners. The simple Ethiopians were too shy to talk with them.

One day, a person approached those foreigners and asked, "From which land do you come and what are you doing here?" "We come from the countries of Europe to see your beautiful country. We are of different lands but are friends." Another tourist added, "Though we are seeing your land on our own, if we get someone who can speak our language and your language, we shall enjoy more."

The Ethiopians informed, "You should go to our king and seek his help."

The next day, the tourists went to the king and requested him to provide a guide. The king asked, "Well, first you tell me have you liked whatever you have seen on your own so far? Happy or unhappy?" A tourist replied, "Your land, rivers and natural beauty are fantastic."

But if we get a guide we will know about the history and the legends attached to this country. The king was very pleased. He treated them as royal guests and put them up in his palace. A guide was allotted to them to show them around. The tourists were delighted. They liked the king very much and admired him. They visited all the places worth seeing in Ethiopia. They recorded everything in their diaries with diagrams. When their tour was complete the tourists asked permission from the king to leave. The king gave the tourists lots of costly presents. They were led to the harbor by the king's men. All the tourists praised the king. They boarded the ship. A minister whispered some orders to the soldiers. The soldiers made the tourists take off their shoes. The tourists looked at one another puzzled. The shoes were taken away. The tourists couldn't understand what was happening. No one explained anything to them. Some of the tourists were getting irritated. One of them showed courage to ask, "Is it your custom that a foreigner has to leave his shoes back?" Another one suggested, "If that's so, please give us new shoes. We can not go back to our countries bare feet."

The minister and the soldiers didn't reply. Some of the tourists thought that they were being insulted. Then they saw a soldier coming with pairs of shoes. The tourists were amused. When the soldier came near, they found that he had brought back their shoes. A surprised tourist asked, "If you were to return same shoes back, why did you take them away in the first place?" The minister smiled and said, "Gentlemen! You came to our country and liked it. We are happy about it. And we are pleased that you are taking back fond memories of our country. But we don't want you to take back our soil. So, we dusted your shoes clean. We love our soil more than our own lives. Thank you." The tourists were amazed to see the Ethiopian's love for their soil.

Word Basket :

- inn : a place that provides food and shelter, especially for travellers

Hey Mowgli!

How're you doing, jungle boy? I hope you're well! I've been thinking about your holiday adventures.

So, spill the beans-how is life in the jungle with Bagheera, Baloo, Kaa and the rest of the crew?

Do you still enjoy dangling from vines, relaxing by the river and dancing with wolves at midnight? I bet Baloo is still hogging all of the honey, right? And how is Kaa doing these days? Still hypnotizing everyone with those devious eyes?

I miss our conversations and your weird jungle stories. Please respond immediately and tell me everything! I'd like to visit the jungle on my next vacation and see the wild life for myself!

Take care and be safe-do not get eaten by any tigers!

Your friend,
Radha

2.1 A Water Drop !

Warm-up :

- Which season do you enjoy the most? Why?
- Make a list of the sound words related with flowing water?

1. Listen and recite.

I wondered how a water drop up in the sky,
A shiny bead just floating way up high,
The clouds were soft like cotton I could see,
It felt like they were playing games with glee.

The wind would push it here and there around,
Like hide-and-seek but rise above the ground,
Then suddenly it fell down as the rain,
I wondered whether it was loss or gain!

It landed on the ground and trickled slow,
Through soil where roots and tiny creatures grow,
Then pipes and tanks all carried it along,
Pleasingly humming as a melodious song.

At last it reached my tap's small shiny spout
And splashed into the basin as it gushed out!

- Anonymous

Word Basket :

- bead : a small drop of liquid/water
- glee : great delight or feeling very joyful
- trickled : to flow in a thin stream

2. Mention in the box whether following statements are True or False :

- (i) The poem describes the water drop turning into rain.
- (ii) The water drop stayed in the sky forever.
- (iii) After it fell, the water travelled through soil and pipes.
- (iv) The journey of the water drop ended in a large lake.

3. Match the following :

A	Answer	B
(i) gush		(a) producing pleasant music

1. Read the following.

Characters : Denu - (The cobbler), Dhania - (His wife), The fairies, Narrator
(Denu's workshop: He and his wife are busy making shoes with their tools.)

Denu : This is the last piece of leather and we don't have money to buy any more. I am afraid, we'll have no food from tomorrow.

Dhania : Don't worry. God will help us and everything will be alright.

Narrator : Denu cut his last pair of shoes at night and went to bed. He was worried. When he woke up the next morning and went to his workshop, he was surprised.

Denu : Dhania! Dhania! Come here, look at this! A new pair of shoes shining bright!

Dhania : They are beautiful. I knew everything would be alright. But who made these shoes for us?

Denu : I don't know.

Narrator : Denu went to market and sold the shoes. He bought more leather with the money. That night also he cut the leather for shoes and found them sewn and ready in the morning. The same thing continued night after night.
(A few days later)

Denu : (to his wife) : How can this be true? After all, who makes the shoes for us? Let us hide behind the door tonight and find out who our friends are.

Narrator : That night they hid behind the door and waited. After some time, they saw five fairies enter their workshop. They were carrying tiny cobbler's tools in their hands. They sang and danced as they sat down to make the shoes.

Fairies : We are the five busy fairies, We like to help the needy, we like to feed everybody. Except the ones who are greedy.

Narrator : They finished their work and went away. Denu and his wife entered the workshop.

Denu : Such wonderful, kind, little fairies they are!

Dhania : I'll make some nice clothes for the fairies.

Narrator : Dhania sewed clothes for the fairies.

The following night, when the fairies came to the workshop, they were surprised. They found five pairs of bright and colourful clothes on the floor in place of leather. They put them on happily and sang and danced all night. Denu and his wife never forgot their kindness and continued their work regularly. They lived happily ever after.

Word Basket :

- cobbler : a person whose job is to repair or make shoes
- tiny : very small
- greedy : wanting more than you need (usually money or food)

2. Make a list of five things made from artificial leather :

(i) (ii) (iii) (iv) (v)

3. Form smaller words from the given words.

e.g. leather
eat her

.....
teacher

carpet
.....

4. How did the fairies help Denu? How did he show his gratitude?

5. Imagine you meet a fairy - what would you ask her to help in keeping your surroundings better?

◆ Sentence Stress :

In English, we stress the “content” words (nouns, verbs, adjectives) to convey meaning.

e.g. : “I’ll make some nice clothes for the fairies.”

Now read the sentence three times, changing the focus each time:

Stress “I’ll” : (Focus on who is making them).

Stress “nice” : (Focus on the quality of the clothes).

Stress “fairies” : (Focus on who receives the gift).

◆ Practice stressing each word and understand the change in meaning.

(i) My brother plays football every evening.

(ii) We visited the zoo yesterday.

◆ Listen and repeat (Short vowel sounds) :

Sound	Words
/ i /	sit
/ e /	pen
/ æ /	cat
/ ʌ /	sun
/ ɒ /	box
/ ʊ /	put
/ ə /	about

◆ Read and identify the short vowels in the given words.

6. Enlist other short vowel sound words and practise them :

For the Facilitator :

- Give ample practice to identify stressed and unstressed syllables in a word and short vowel sounds.

2.3

The Value of Time

Warm-up :

• Observe the following pictures :

(i)

(ii)

• Now work in pair and discuss the following :

- (a) What do you see in the above pictures?
- (b) Who do you think will be successful in life?

1. Read the following.

In a village there once lived a farmer. He would start working in his field with the first rays of the sun till it was twilight. He was hardworking but his son, Bhikhu, though young, was fun-loving and lazy and would spend his time sleeping, gossiping and just lazing away. His laziness annoyed the farmer and he would often think of a way that would stir his young son to activity.

One day he called Bhikhu and said, “My son, since you wake up late you have never seen the sunrise from the horizon nor have you heard the song of the chirping birds. Get up, my son and see how the breeze bends the trees with its caring touch and you shall feel delighted. You may be inspired then to work in the field and learn the value of time.”

Bhikhu promised to do as bidden. But, the next morning, sleep again overtook him and he did not go to work. The farmer called him again and said, “Look here, my son, nature goes by a certain design and teaches us to work in time. Did you ever see the sun rising late? or, the moon not appearing in the sky at night? In nature's design every moment is precious. Look at the white lily that blossoms only once a year when the rain comes. When the rain is gone, the lily is gone, too. Money once spent can be got back, but time once lost is lost forever. So, do what you have to do without any loss of time."

But, this sermonising too fell flat on Bhikhu's ears. The farmer called him again and said, "Far away in this field there is a barren tree. In the hollow of that tree I've hidden some gold for you. A stray bird has covered the hollow with dry leaves and straw. No one would ever know about it. Go, my son, in the morning when the bird is gone and bring the gold." Bhikhu was tempted to go but was overtaken by laziness. He said to himself, "Where is the hurry to go today? Who knows about the hidden gold?" So, Bhikhu put off for another day. Now, it so happened that a poor woodcutter went there the next day. Finding the tree dry, he cut it down. He was pleasantly amazed to find a bag full of gold in the hollow of the tree that he cut and he took it home.

Bhikhu's laziness cost him a fortune. Had he gone to fetch the gold as soon as the farmer asked him to, he would have been rich. Repentance would not bring the gold back.

Bhikhu should have known the value of time. He should have acted on the spur of the moment. Then he could have been spared the agony of the loss of wealth. It has, therefore, been said in the following couplet by Kabirdas that, what one has to perform today must be performed without any loss of time. And what one plans to do the next day must be put into action on the same because one never knows what may befall the next moment. It may be too late.

The famous lines by Kabir express this very thought in these meaningful words:

*(Kaal kare so aaj kar,
Aaj kare so ab
Pal mein parlay hoyegi,
Bahuri karoge kab||)*

Word Basket :

- twilight : evening time when the sun sets
- horizon : the line where sky and land seem to meet
- breeze : a light wind
- sermonising : giving long advice
- barren : dry and without life
- hollow : an empty space inside
- tempted : strongly attracted
- fortune : luck
- repentance : feeling sorry for a mistake

2. Read and rearrange the following sentences in correct sequence :

- Bhikhu delays and the woodcutter finds the gold.
- The farmer hides gold in the hollow of the tree.
- Bhikhu regrets his laziness.
- Bhikhu sleeps and gossips instead of helping his father.
- The farmer tries to teach Bhikhu the value of time.

3. Justify how Bhiku's laziness cost him a fortune?

4. How can you use the lesson from the story in your daily life?

◆ Simple tenses :

Tense	When to use?	Examples
Simple Present	For habits, daily routines and universal facts.	1. I eat an apple daily. 2. The Sun gives us light. 3. They study together.
Simple Past	For actions that finished at a specific time in the past.	1. I ate an apple yesterday. 2. We watched a movie. 3. She wrote a story.
Simple Future	For actions that will happen in the future.	1. I will eat an apple later. 2. It will rain tomorrow. 3. We will win a match.

5. State the type of tense :

- The woodcutter found the bag of gold in the tree
- The farmer works hard in his field every day
- The farmer called his son and gave him advice
- Bhikhu spends his time sleeping and gossiping
- Bhikhu will learn the value of time one day

◆ Read and understand :

An Anagram is a word or phrase formed by rearranging the letters of a different word or phrase, using all the original letters exactly once

e.g. act - cat

save - vase

6. Make anagrams of the following :

tone :

eat :

net :

top :

Base form of verb	Past tense form of verbs
begin	began
drink	drank
know	knew
bring	brought
forgive	forgave
wear	wore

◆ Enlist more verbs along with their past tense form.

◆ Make a list of activities you did/you will.

You did (past tense)	You will do (future tense)
yesterday	tommorow
last year	next year
last month	next month
last night	tonight

7. Write a story imagining that Bhikhu found gold. Use the points given below for it.

- The way his life changed.
- The lesson he learnt about hard work and time management.
- The way he would spend his wealth.

8. Create a dialogue based on the story, enact and present it in the class.

9. Create your word puzzle using the vocabulary from the text.

For the Facilitator :

- Encourage the learners to read more moral stories and ask them to present one of the stories in the class.
- Motivate the learners to find and write sentences of present, past and future tense.

Do's	Don'ts
.....

1. Read and understand :

- What does 'Independence' mean to you?

On the occasion of India's Independence Day celebrations, we asked children what independence means to them. Children also expressed their ideas on how India can become a more equal and progressive nation. Here's what they said...

Expressing Openly

Independence means having the freedom to speak, raise questions, share ideas and live freely. It also means being able to make one's own choices.

Avani, 10 years, Jaipur.

Being Confident

I feel independent when I go out and buy groceries on my own and pay money carefully. Independence helps me gain confidence, face challenges and try new things.

Bhavya, 8 years, Mumbai

Living Freely

Independence means to feel like a happy cloud roaming around without restrictions, doing things on your own. It also means respecting others' independence.

Arnav, 10 years, Mumbai

- How can we make India a fairer and more equal nation?
- How can India become a more progressive nation?

Uplifting Everyone

Indians should live in harmony and should respect others' customs and beliefs. We should provide equal opportunity for education and means for the upliftment of every section of society.

Ayanish, 10 years, Varanasi.

Food for All

Everyone should have access to good food, fruits and vegetables at affordable price so that they get to eat what they want without having to think about its price.

Dhirav, 9 years, Mumbai.

Eradicating Poverty, Creating Jobs

We need to control the rapidly increasing population, remove poverty, provide jobs to people and keep an eye on the crime rate.

Reshma, 8 years, Andhra Pradesh.

Investing in the Future

Indians need to spend on education, innovation and skill development. We should encourage scientific research and move towards a digital future.

Alokit, 10 years, Vadodara

Clean India, Better India

We need to keep our nation clean. There should be a fine on spitting and littering on the streets.

Avantika, 12 years, Ghaziabad

Supporting Sportswomen

We need to give girls equal opportunities to play sports and support them as much as we support men. We need to cheer equally loudly for both genders and encourage them equally.

Mrunmayee, 11 years, Thane.

Teaching Equality

To be a more equal nation, we should have a good education system that teaches equality for all. We should vote for leaders who work for everyone's better future.

Arsalan, 8 years, Hyderabad.

The Ancient Indian Doctor Charak

Warm-up :

- Write maximum words in one minute related to :

- Match the problem with the common home remedy :

Problem	Answer	Home Remedy
Cough		(a) Turmeric paste
Stomach-ache		(b) Adulasa
Wound		(c) Ginger tea
Cold		(d) Pudin hara/Ajwain

1. Read and understand :

It was a golden afternoon in Kolhapur and the sun filtered gently through the leaves of the old banyan tree in the backyard. Grandfather sat cross-legged on the mat, his silver hair glinting in the light, while little Meera, his curious eight-year-old granddaughter, tried to balance a wooden top on her palm.

They laughed together as the top spun and wobbled, finally tipping over. Meera clapped and nestled beside her grandfather.

Suddenly, she fell and her knee started bleeding. Grandfather picked her up in a jiffy and started the household first aid.

Meera was holding her cry inside. Watching this, he said, “Thank God the injury is not serious, otherwise we would have to go for surgery.”

“Dada,” she asked, eyes wide with wonder, “how did people treat illnesses in ancient times? Did they do surgeries? Did they have doctors like we do now?”

Grandfather’s face lit up. “Ah, what a wonderful question, Meera! Let me tell you about one of the greatest physicians of ancient India, Charaka.”

Charaka lived nearly two thousand years ago and is considered one of the founding fathers of Ayurveda. He wrote the Charaka Samhita, a detailed text on medicine that covered everything from anatomy and diagnosis to treatment and ethics.

He believed that disease was caused by imbalances in the body and that healing came from restoring harmony through herbs, diet and lifestyle. Charaka emphasized prevention as much as cure and taught that a good doctor must be wise, compassionate and deeply observant.

His work influenced generations of healers and is still respected today. Charaka also made significant contributions to the understanding of genetics. He described in detail the procedures for the care of infants and children, making his work one of the earliest known texts on paediatrics.

His philosophy was simple yet profound, ‘A person who helps others in distress is the greatest among men.’

Grandfather gently tied the bandage on Meera’s knee and smiled. “Healing begins with care and compassion.” He said, “just as Charaka taught.”

Meera nodded thoughtfully. She now understood that a true doctor needs not only medicines but also compassion.

Word Basket :

- glinting : shining with small bright flashes of light.
- ancient : very old; from a long time ago
- physician : a doctor or healer
- Ayurveda : ancient Indian system of medicine

For the Facilitator :

- Explain to the learners how nouns, adjectives and adverbs can be formed by adding suffixes.
- Give them ample practice to use suffix, prefix, etc.

3.1 Words

• Let's find :

Words which motivate us

Words which make us happy

Words which hurt us

1. Read and enjoy.

Some words heal and some words hurt,
Some cause sorrow and some cause mirth.
Some words harsh bring grief and tears,
Some words soothe troublesome fears.

Some words kill and some give life,
Some hit as hard, as a steel tipped knife.
Some bring hope to a sinking heart,
Some cause husband and wife apart.

Harsh words come from a thoughtless mind,
Sweet words belong to a heart that is kind.
So are you, open not your mouth in haste,
Think well each word, speak well in taste.

- Anonymous

Word Basket :

- mirth : happiness or joy
- soothe : to calm or comfort
- sinking heart : feeling sad or depressed

2. Answer the following :

- What should we do to become a polite speaker?
- Why does the poet say that harsh words bring grief and tears?
- Why is it said that sweet words belong to a kind heart?
- Discuss how some words bring hope to a sinking heart?

3. Fill in the blanks by choosing the correct option.

- (i) Some words hit as hard as a tipped knife. (gold/steel/silver)
- (ii) Some words bring to a sinking heart. (anger/hope/fear)
- (iii) A “sinking heart” means feeling (happy/sad/excited)

4. Write rhyming pairs from the poem.

5. Give the details of the poem using the following points.

Name of the poem
Name of the poet
Rhyming scheme
Figures of speech
Line that I like the most

6. Write the message of the poem in your own words.

◆ Poetic Device :

Repetition

Repetition is a figure of speech in which words or phrases are repeated.

e.g. “Some Cause sorrow and Some Cause mirth.”

7. Find more examples of Repetition from the poem.

8. Sing the poem with proper stress and intonation. Record it and share with your friends.

9. Find the meaning of the following idioms from dictionary and use it in your own sentence.

- (i) in other words
- (ii) the last word
- (iii) word of mouth
- (iv) word for word
- (v) eat your words
- (vi) word gets around

For the Facilitator :

- A rhyme scheme is the pattern of rhymes at the end of each line of a poem or song. In the poem “A Water Drop” the rhyme scheme is - aabb.
- Explain the rhyme scheme with examples and explain the difference between alliteration and repetition.

Dreaming Big : Dr. Raghunath Mashelkar

Warm-up :

- Complete the web.

1. Read the interview.

Dr. Raghunath Anant Mashelkar is one of the most famous Indian scientists. He was born in a small village called Mashel in Goa. He faced many hardships in his early childhood. His father passed away when he was very young. His mother moved with him to Mumbai from their native village, Mashel to earn a living. His mother worked very hard to support his education.

When he was a child, life was very difficult. He did not even have shoes and studied under the streetlight at night. He studied in Union High school, Marathi medium Municipal school in Girgaon. Despite being one of the toppers in SSC Board Examination, he almost gave up studying because his mother could not afford higher education. However, his friends collected Rs.200 to help him to get admission to Jai Hind College. Later, he continued his education with the help of a scholarship from the Sir Dorabjee TATA Trust.

He became a great scientist and later the Director-General of CSIR (Council of Scientific and Industrial Research). He has received many awards like Padma Shri, Padma Bhushan, and Padma Vibhushan for his work in science. Dr. Mashelkar always says, “It is not money, but ideas that make great inventions.”

An Interview with Dr. Mashelkar

(This is an imaginary interview with Dr. Mashelkar, taken by a girl named Poorva, a student of Grade Six. His journey as a scientist is highly inspiring)

Poorva : Good morning, Sir! It's a great honour to meet you.

Dr. Mashelkar : Good morning, Poorva! I'm happy to meet young students like you.

Poorva : Sir, could you please tell us more about your childhood?

Dr. Mashelkar : I was born in a small village called Mashel in Goa. My father passed away when I was six. My mother and I moved to Mumbai. I walked barefoot and studied under streetlights. But I loved learning and I always believed education would change my life.

Poorva : Who inspired you the most when you were young?

Dr. Mashelkar : My first inspiration is my mother and my science teacher.

Poorva : What were the turning points in your life?

Dr. Mashelkar : My first turning point was meeting my Guru Prof. Manmohan Sharma under whom I completed my PhD within three years. I have imbibed a lot of values from him. Ours is a unique combination of Guru and Shishya both of us are FRS [Fellows of the Royal Society]. Another turning point was meeting my mentor Bharat Ratna Prof. C. N. R. Rao later in my life. He set very high goals and spotted young talent.

Poorva : Sir, you studied in the UK. Why did you return to India?

Dr. Mashelkar : Yes, I worked in the UK for some time, but my heart was in India. I wanted to use my knowledge for my country. So, in 1974, I came back to India to help in nation-building through science.

Poorva : Sir, we know you are a great scientist. Can you tell us what your main work is about?

Dr. Mashelkar : I am a chemical engineer. My main research is in polymer science and engineering. Polymers are materials used to make many things like plastics, rubber and even some medicines.

Poorva : That sounds interesting! What is the unforgettable moment in your life?

Dr. Mashelkar : When I became a Fellow of the Royal Society in London in 1998. I signed the same book in which Sir Isaac Newton had signed! It's a proud moment for a boy who studied under a streetlight.

Poorva : You have created an award in your mother's name. Please tell us about it.

Dr. Mashelkar : Yes, of course. It's a proud moment for me too. I started the 'Anjani Mashelkar Inclusive Innovation Award' in memory of my mother. It is my way of honouring her dream.

Poorva : What is the secret of your success, Sir?

Dr. Mashelkar : It's simple work, work and more work! I wake up early and keep learning every day. Hard work and discipline bring success.

Poorva : Thank you very much, Sir! We learnt a lot from your journey. We learn that even if life is full of problems, we can reach great heights through education, hard work and big dreams.

Dr. Mashelkar : Thank you, Poorva. I wish you and all the students a very bright future. Always keep your curiosity alive!

Word Basket :

- inspiration : someone or something that encourages you
- mentor : a guide or teacher who helps you to improve
- polymer : a material used to make things like plastic, rubber, etc.
- inclusive : something that includes or supports everyone
- innovation : a new and creative idea that helps people

2. Examine the interview and respond to the questions.

- What difficulties did Dr. Mashelkar face in his childhood?
- How did his mother inspire and support him?
- Why did Dr. Mashelkar return to India even after studying and working abroad?
- Why is hard work and discipline important for success?

3. List out the awards and honours received by Dr. Raghunath Mashelkar.

4. Rearrange the letters to make meaningful words.

- TOONINAVIN -
- ONITATSNAI -
- CLISUNVIE -
- MZYENES -

◆ Make more jumbled words and ask your friend to make meaningful words with it.

5. Conduct an interview of a famous personality in your area (such as a freedom fighter, doctor, social activist or professionals from different fields, etc.). Prepare a set of questions for interview with the help of the following points.

- Introduction and planning
- Personal background questions
- Unforgettable moment in life
- Professional life
- Contribution to society
- Achievements

6. Write a short essay on ‘A female Indian Scientist’.

7. Read the following phrases and use them in your sentences.

- (i) to give up (ii) with the help of
(iii) a lot of (iv) to be full of

8. Read the following sentences and identify whether the intonation is rising ↑ or falling ↓. Mark the correct arrow for each sentence in the given box.

- (i) Will you give me your pen, please?
- (ii) Could you please tell me this address?
- (iii) Shut the door.
- (iv) Sit down.

Note : Rising intonation is usually used in polite requests while falling intonation is used in commands.

Now, try this using various commands and requests (sentences).

◆ Listen and repeat
(Long vowel sounds) :

Sound	Words
/ i: /	see
/ a: /	car
/ ɔ: /	ball
/ u: /	food
/ ɜ: /	bird

◆ Read and identify the long vowel sounds from the given words.

9. Enlist other long vowel sound words and practise :

10. Listen to the interview of famous Indian scientists such as Dr. A. P. J Abdul Kalam, Vikram Sarabhai, etc.

DISCOVER TED TALKS

What is TED Talk?

- TED = Technology, Entertainment, Design
- Short, fun, inspiring talks by people with big ideas
- Speakers can be kids, teens or adults sharing stories, discoveries or solutions

Why Watch TED Talks?

- Learn new ideas from kids and adults
- Get inspired to try something new
- Spark fun discussions with friends and classmates

Recommended Short TED Talks for Kids

Speaker	Talk Title	Duration
Surabhi Gautam	How she became IAS.	18 min
Capt. Hansja Sharma	Stories of success through struggle	16 min
Emily Jaenson	Six behaviours to increase your confidence	10 min

After Watching - Think and Share

- What was the main idea of the talk?
- How did the speaker inspire you?
- Can you try one idea from the talk in your life?

Listen to the educational TED Talk (link provided by facilitator) and communicate the central idea.

For the Facilitator :

- Provide educational links to the learners. Encourage them to listen to educational TED Talks.

3.3 Too Scared to Sleep

Warm-up :

- There are many things which you may find scary. List them.
- Do you like to read horror stories? Why? Why not?

1. Read the story carefully :

Beth heard an owl hoot and the night wind rustle through piles of dead leaves. She shivered and unrolled her sleeping bag near a big oak tree.

"This is a good spot to spend the night," Kelly said. "I'm glad your uncle said we could sleep out on his land."

"Maybe we should be a little closer to the cabin," Beth answered.

"What's the point of camping out if we sleep next to the cabin?" Kelly asked.

"Promise you won't be too scared to sleep out if I tell you?" Beth said.

"Uncle Frank said to be sure to fasten the gate so the ghosts won't come in."

Kelly laughed. "Hey, you don't believe in ghosts, do you? You know how your Uncle Frank is always kidding around. I think he was just teasing you."

"Maybe," Beth said. She shivered. It was getting dark fast. Already the cabin was lost in the shadows of the forest behind it.

They took off their boots and slid into their sleeping bags. Beth turned on her flashlight and let the light shine along the fence. She could see that the gate was shut tight. Of course, Uncle Frank was just kidding about the ghosts, Beth thought. That was just like him. He was trying to make sleeping out a real adventure.

Kelly yawned. “It’s pretty late,” she said, using her flashlight to look at her watch in the fading light. “I’m going to sleep.”

Beth lay still. She heard the steady sound of Kelly’s breathing. She heard the sound of wind in the trees. Then she heard a noise by the gate. Her heart beat faster.

She turned the flashlight in that direction. Something white moved on the other side of the gate.

The gate rattled. Something white was trying to open it.

“Wake up, Kelly!” Beth shouted, reaching over and shaking her by the shoulder. “There really are ghosts!” Beth’s flashlight picked out two white forms near the gate.

“Let’s get out of here!” Kelly yelled.

The two girls squirmed out of their sleeping bags and ran to the cabin, leaving their boots and sleeping bags behind. They locked the cabin door behind them.

Uncle Frank found them fast asleep, sitting in chairs and wrapped in blankets, when he brought down doughnuts early the next morning.

“What goes on here?” he asked. “Your sleeping bags are out under the oak tree and here you are asleep in the cabin.”

“Oh, Uncle Frank,” Beth said. “The ghosts came, just like you said. We saw them!”

“Ghosts?” Uncle Frank shook his head. “I never said ghosts would come!”

“You did so,” Kelly said. “You said be sure to fasten the gate so the ghosts couldn’t get in. We saw two white ghosts over by the gate last night. That’s why we ran in here.” Uncle Frank laughed. “I didn’t say ghosts. I said be sure to fasten the gate so my neighbor’s goats wouldn’t come in. They’re always trying to sneak into my vegetable garden. Look outside.”

Beth and Kelly groaned, then they began to laugh. There by the fence stood their two hairy, four-footed “ghosts,” calmly chewing grass.

- By Nancy Lenz

Word Basket :

- hoot : to make a loud, high-pitched sound (like an owl)
- rustle : to make a soft, whispering sound (like leaves moving)
- piles : a heap or a stack of things, often messy or untidy
- shivered : shook or trembled (often because of cold or fear)
- teasing : make fun of someone in a playful way
- fading : getting weaker or less bright (like light)
- rattled : made a noise by shaking or moving (like a gate)
- squirmed : wiggled or twisted the body from side to side
- sneak : to move quietly and secretly
- groaned : made a low, unhappy sound (often because of embarrassment)

2. Answer the following.

- What do you do when you get frightened?
- What do you do to stay strong even when you feel a little scary ?
- Why did Beth think that there was a ghost rattling the gate ?
- Why did the children run inside the cabin?

3. Write about an incident that was scary earlier to you but is now funny.

4. Do you know there are festivals in India in which people paint various kinds of masks and present their traditional art? Collect information about such festivals and arts and display them in the class.

5. Paper work - Make some scary/funny paper masks from waste paper bags.

6. Do you agree that fear depends on how we think? Express your opinion.

7. Word Play.

(i) Homophones

Read the sentences carefully :

She told me a tale of a tail.

I can see a ship in the sea.

In first sentence, the word tale and tail sound alike.

While in the second sentence see and sea sound alike.

*Such words are called homophones. Homophones sound alike, their spellings and meanings differ.

Here is a list for you. Use them in your own sentence.

Two-to, by-bye-buy, ship-sheep, meet-meat

(ii) Homographs

Read the sentences carefully :

The bat rested near the bat hanging from the roof.

Turn right to see if your answer is right.

Here the first word bat means cricket bat and the second word bat means an animal.

*Such words are called as homographs. Homographs–Same spelling, different meanings, may have different pronunciations.

Here is a list for you. Use them in your own sentence.

8. Pun :

- (i) The maths teacher has too many problems.
- (ii) A bicycle can't stand on its own because it is two-tired.
- (iii) I am on a seafood diet; I see food and eat it.

Above bold italic words bring humour in the sentences. A Pun is a play on words that creates humour by using words with double meaning or similar sounds.

◆ Create your own sentences using Pun.

For the Facilitator :

- Explain Homophones, Homographs and Pun to the learners by giving more examples.

3.4 Eco - Warriors Unite!

Let's think :

• What will you do if :

- (i) You see paper bits scattered in the classroom.
- (ii) There is garbage in the parking area of the society.
- (iii) Someone has thrown a banana peel on the road.

• Throw the given waste into proper dustbin-(Dry waste/Wet waste) vegetable waste, broken toys, paper, banana peels, plastic wrappers used tea leaves

Dry waste	Wet waste
.....

1. Read the given skit carefully.

(Kids enter High hills. They are getting ready for the trek.)

Aarav : Let's explore High hills! We will have so much fun together.

Priya : I want to hear so many birds singing like orchestra!

Kabir : Yes and the waterfall will be flowing with crystal clear water.

Isha : Oh no! What a hardluck! Look Aarav, what we've got is a treasure of garbage here...

Rohan : I think there are stink bombs in disguise.

Neha : (holding handkerchief around nose) and

Kabir... your dreamy waterfall is none other than a dirty pour...

Aarav : What a dirty picture of the environment it is! How can we clean it? Now only superheroes can help us...

Rohan : Ha... ha... superheroes? Are they for real? Do they exist? Call them then. Let me see how they can help us.

Aarav : What? Don't you trust me? Now see..

Zip zap zoom,

Run from room

Oh my superheroes

Come fast boom!

Neha : Hee.. hee... heee.... so funny! Is it a magic mantra?

(cloud of dust spreads over and superheroes come there.)

Kabir : (Shaking with fear) Who are you?

Shaktisen : Hello, I am Shakti Sen and these are my friends Bhirbhiri and Dhoomchand!

Isha : Oh! Thank you for coming here to help us! Will you please collect the garbage from this jungle?

Bhirbhiri : Whose perfume is so bad that I can't even breathe ...

Rohan : (Smells his shirt) Umm.... Not mine...it's not a perfume ...it's a smell of garbage spread all over here..

Bhirbhiri : Ohh no! I feel like vomiting

Kabir : Are you sure you have super qualities? You are supposed to help us .

Bhirbhiri : Yes.. I do have super qualities. But... this... smell... is... ughhh...
(falls down unconscious)

Rohan : Now? Dhoomchand, look, the water is so dirty that even animals hesitate to drink it.

Dhoomchand : Dhan-ta-dan.. Don't worry. I'm here now and I will clean it.
(Disappears. Comes after few seconds) What a horrible picture it is! Is it a flowing dustbin or what? The river is full of plastic bags, garbage, drainage water, etc. Only plastic bags are swimming in the water replacing fish.

Isha : What? No fish in the water? Oh no... but I love them so much!

Dhoomchand : The aquatic life is in danger. I'm feeling very thirsty after watching this.

Isha : (Offers bottle) Have some water.

Dhoomchand : Ha.. ha.. ha.. a bottle of water! I drink a barrel of water at a time. Give me that much or let me search for it. (Disappears)

Rohan : Oh no! he is also gone! Shaktisen now only you can help us.

Shaktisen : Zoom... zoom... zoom... (swirling here and there) Are you joking? The garbage is too much for me to collect!
I'm leaving... zoom... zoom... zoom...

I'm happy in my world. You have made the earth the biggest dustbin ever...!
I can't help you! Bye... zoom... zoom... zoom...

Isha : Now? Nobody is helping us. What should we do now?

Aarav : Let's help ourselves.

Rohan : Yeah! We can make a difference.

Neha : Let's be eco-warriors for High hills!

(Kids spot trash, garbage affecting streams and harm to animals.)

Priya : Oh no! Animals might get hurt by this plastic!

Kabir : The polluted water is dangerous for their health.

Isha : We throw away so much waste it's damaging nature!

Rohan : Recycling can help to reduce this trash.

Neha : We should clean the water too.

Aarav : High hills are in trouble. We MUST act!

(Kids start cleaning, collecting trash, sorting recyclables, talking about reducing waste.)

Kabir : We are the real superheroes. Let's pick up this litter and make High hills sparkle!

Priya : Animals will thank us if we clean up!

Isha : Reducing plastic is super important. We can reuse bags!

Rohan : Sorting recyclables like paper, plastic helps a lot!

Neha : Let's not throw garbage in water.

Aarav : Together we're making High hills healthier!

All sing : "We're eco-warriors! We will save our earth!"

Priya : We will work together with our parents too. Then only birds will be happier because of less trash!

Kabir : High hills will shine like a green gem!

Rohan : Recycling will turn trash into treasure!

Neha : Saving water will keep nature flowing like a stream!

Aarav : Yes we will. Let's keep our environment clean and green!

All together : (Holding each other's hand)

Zip zap zoom

Zip zap zoom

Run from room

We are the superheroes

We'll change it soon!

Word Basket :

7. Write a small skit about awareness of the environment and present it in your school assembly/programme.

8. There is a funny magic spell in the given skit 'Zip zap zoom...' Make some other funny magic spells.

9. Plan about festival celebrations in an eco-friendly manner write about it with the help of given points.

- List up the eco-friendly things you will use.
- Decide the things which you will avoid using.
- How will you try to avoid pollution (air/water/soil/sound)?
- Think upon new creative ideas for it.

Present Progressive Tense	Past Progressive Tense	Future Progressive Tense
Present Progressive Tense describes the actions happening right now.	Past Progressive Tense describes the actions happening at a specific time in the past.	Future Progressive Tense describes the actions which will be taking place in the future.
e.g. 1. She is studying in her room. 2. They are playing soccer on the playground. 3. The baby is crying without her mother.	e.g. 1. She was studying in her room yesterday. 2. They were playing soccer at noon. 3. The baby was crying without her mother.	e.g. 1. She will be studying tomorrow. 2. They will be playing soccer. 3. The baby will be crying without her mother.

10. Use the correct form of the verb. (Present Progressive, Past progressive or Future progressive.)

- He on C- Language nowadays. (work)
- They a movie when the phone rang. (watch)
- She exercise tomorrow morning. (do)
- He science for his upcoming test. (Study)
- As the direct train is not available, he by bus. (travel)

11. Arrange the cleaning campaign with the help of teachers and parents.

For the Facilitator :

- Conduct 'A Clean and Beautiful Classroom Competition' in the school and give 'Best classroom Award'.
- Encourage the learners to collect different skit on environment for children's magazines.

A Book Review : Ranji the Music Maker

Find and write :

- Name the books that you like the most and write its type :

My favourite books	Type of Book

1. Read the following :

An extract from Ruskin Bond's 'Ranji the Music Maker'

Ranji, nine years old, sat on the steps of his house, playing an old flute that he had found in the storeroom. Well, he was trying to play it. In truth, he was unfamiliar with flutes, or any kind of instrument, but he was doing his best to produce a few shrill notes. Nobody seemed to notice, though. A crow cawed from a neighbouring wall; it sounded better.

The flute was old, but it was a good flute and after some time Ranji managed to produce a few magical notes. Presently a little kitten crossed the road, sat down in front of Ranji and listened with rapt attention to the flute music. The sounds produced by Ranji may not have been pleasing to crows or humans, but cats were different. Cats had their own musical tastes!

It was a tabby kitten, white with black patches. It sat in the sun and listened closely. And soon it was joined by its mother, a large black cat with green eyes. She listened too, purring softly.

Before long they were joined by other cats- ginger cats, grey cats, spotted cats, fluffy cats, skinny cats. Ranji hadn't realized there were so many cats in his mohalla, his neighbourhood. He was sure his mother would be annoyed by their presence, so he got up from the steps and still playing wheezily on the flute, walked down the lane towards the railway station.

The cats followed him.

Ranji didn't mind. If they liked his music, they were welcome to follow him. Was this what it was like to be a Rock Star? Except that Pop Singers were usually followed by people, not cats.

- Ruskin Bond

◆ Book review of Ruskin Bond's 'Ranji the Music Maker' :

1. Name of the book	Ranji the music maker
2. Writer's name	Ruskin Bond
3. Central theme	Ranji stumbles upon assorted musical instruments in the storeroom first a shrill flute, then a blaring little trumpet and, finally, a too-big drum that may have once sounded like a battle march. He stages impromptu concerts down the road, not sparing his neighbours, nor the cats around his porch, nor the peace-loving inhabitants of the zoo! But all Ranji's really seeking is a friend who'll hear the magic in his din.
4. Characters from the story	Ranji, Ranji's mother, cats, dogs, birds, crocodile, etc.
5. The best part of the book	The best part of the book is that Ranji tried every instrument on every person around him as well as animals. It makes the situation more funny.

Word Basket :

- shrill : high-pitched and piercing sound
- mohalla : a neighbourhood or a local area
- wheezily : with a wheezing sound, often due to breathing difficulties

2. Read the book review again and number the sentences in correct order. The first one has been done for you.

	A little kitten crossed the road, sat down in front of Ranaji.
1	Ranaji, nine-year-old, sat on the steps of his house, playing an old flute.
	They were joined by other cats- ginger cats, spotted cats, fluffy cats, skinny cats.
	Soon it was joined by its mother, a large black cat.
	It was like to be a Rock Star.

3. Read the above extract and the review and answer the questions :

- Which characters are there in the story?
- Why did Ranji think his mother would be annoyed?
- What is the best part of the story book?
- What do you think Ranji learned from this experience about music and its power?
- Can you imagine what might happen if Ranji decided to play a different kind of music?

4. Write a book review about any one of your favourite books and present them in the class.

i. Name of the book
ii. Writer's name
iii. Central theme
iv. Characters from the story
v. The best part of the book

5. Using vowels, complete the words given below.

- (i) n _ _ g h b _ _ r h _ _ d. (ii) s t _ r _ r _ _ m.
 (iii) _ n f _ m _ l _ _ r. (iv) r _ _ l _ z _ d.
 (v) _ n s t r _ m _ n t. (vi) _ t t _ n t _ _ n.

6. Play a Scavenger hunt.

- (i) Find out the synonym for 'happiness or joy' from the poem - 'Words'
 (ii) Find out the antonym for - 'valueless' from the chapter The Value of Time.
 (iii) The word from the chapter 'The Untold Story of the Samosa means 'family history'.
 (iv) The word means 'warm and comfortable' from the chapter 'Self-help is the only way'.
 (v) Find out the antonym for-'Kind' from the poem-'Mirror'.

7. Find the adjectives for the given nouns from the text.

- (i) flute (ii) notes (iii) kitten
 (iv) patches (v) mother

8. Change any letter at a time to form a new word.

- e.g. book → cook → cool → coal → goal
 (i) best →
 (ii) crow →
 (iii) mind →
 (iv) drum →

For the Facilitator :

- Encourage the learners to read stories written by Ruskin Bond or stories of other writers. Use various resources like encyclopaedia, websites, libraries, etc.
- Collect information about Ruskin Bond and introduce him to the learners.

4.1 The Song of the Mischievous Dog

Let's observe and discuss :

- What do you think about the mood of the dog?
- What might this dog be saying if it could talk?

1. Read and recite.

There are many who say that a dog has its day,
And a cat has a number of lives;
There are others who think that a lobster is pink,
And that bees never work in their hives.

There are fewer, of course, who insist that a horse,
Has a horn and two humps on its head,
And a fellow who jests that a mare can build nests,
Is as rare as a donkey that's red.

Yet in spite of all this, I have moments of bliss,
For I cherish a passion for bones,
And though doubtful of biscuit, I'm willing to risk it,
And love to chase rabbits and stones.

But my greatest delight is to take a good bite,
At a calf that is plump and delicious;
And if I indulge in a bite at a bulge,
Let's hope you won't think me too vicious.

- Dylan Thomas

Word Basket :

- humps : a round raised part on a person or animal's back
- jest : to joke or speak humorously
- mare : a female horse or donkey
- bliss : a state of supreme happiness or joy
- plump : having a pleasantly soft rounded body or shape
- bulge : a round lump that sticks out on something
- vicious : cruel or savage

2. State whether the following statements are true or false.

- The dog loves bones and enjoys playing -
- The dog dislikes to chase rabbits and stones for fun -
- The dog enjoys taking a bite at a plump calf -
- The dog hopes people won't think he is too vicious -
- The dog never does anything wrong and is always gentle -

3. Find the words that describe the actions of dog.

4. Write the rhyming pairs and construct humorous sentences using them :

- (ii)

5. Choose the correct rhyme scheme of the poem :

- aaaa
- abcb
- abab
- aaac

6. Find the figures of speech 'Simile' and 'Repetition' from the poem.

7. Answer the following :

- What mischievous activities did the dog do?
- Justify the naughtiness of the dog.
- What does the poet tell us about pets through this poem?

8. 'Are mischievous pets better than well-behaved ones?' Collect views from different people around you and conclude with your opinion.

9. Write Do's and Don'ts about behaving with stray animals.

Sr. No.	Do's	Don'ts
1.	Provide drinking water and food	Don't hit or physically harm
2.
4.
5.

10. Read and enjoy :

Raju : Doctor, Doctor my eyesight is getting worse.

Man : You are absolutely right. This is a post office not a hospital.

Mother : What are you doing, son?

Boy : Writing a letter to my brother.

Mother : Nice! But why are you writing so slowly?

Boy : Because he can't read fast.

• Create your own joke.

.....

.....

.....

For the Facilitator :

- Ask learners to read the jokes with expression.
- Encourage the learners to create their own jokes and share them with friends.

The Indian Root of Mathematics

Let's explore :

- Read the statements aloud. Show thumbs up for a true statement and thumbs down for a false statement.

- Mathematics can be taught through stories.
- India has a long history of mathematics.
- Nature doesn't help to learn.
- Mathematics is easy if you practice exercise everyday.
- Mathematics sharpens your mind.
- All triangles have 4 sides.

- Work in pairs and match the following : (One is done for you)

Ancient Inventors of India

- Aryabhatta
- Sushruta
- Patanjali
- Charaka
- Nagarjuna

Inventions/Specialization

- Inventor of Ayurvedic medicine
- Ancient Alchemist
- Surgery
- Yoga
- Concept of zero

1. Read and understand : (Part-1)

Leelavati was fond of flowers, especially lotus flowers. She loved to watch the lovely lotus that stood straight in water. Sometimes, it swayed with the wind.

She also liked the peacock with its beautiful tail feathers.

It flew only as high as the branches of the trees. When it spied a serpent sliding by, how fast it swooped upon the serpent.

She gazed and gazed at the graceful swan that glided upon the lake... she laughed when she watched the antics of the monkeys...

And she loved maths! Surprising, isn't it? Not really. because Leelavati lived in India hundreds of years ago and studied maths from a book which was very poetic! The book, too, was called 'Leelavati'. The sums in it brought to Leelavati's mind all the beautiful things she loved. Here's an example :

A peacock was sitting on a straight coconut tree that stood tall. It saw a serpent moving to its hole. It flew straight at the serpent and caught it just as it was about to enter the hole. If it flew a distance of... how far away was the hole from the tree?

(Part-2)

Indians have been skilled mathematicians for thousands of years. India was the birthplace of many important mathematical concepts. For example, the concept of zero originated in India. It is from India that the world learned the decimal system. Indians knew how to calculate square roots and cube roots when people in the rest of the world were not aware of these concepts. Indians have known algebra, geometry and trigonometry for hundreds of years, much before the others.

There have been many great mathematicians in India. The mathematics they knew was advanced, even by today's standards. You may have heard the names of Aryabhata and Bhaskaracharya. Bhaskaracharya lived in the 12th century.

He wrote 'Leelavati' a book that teaches arithmetic through interesting examples. The examples are written in the form of verses! 'Leelavati' was used for centuries, as a textbook of mathematics in many parts of India.

Word Basket :

- fond : loving something very much
- swayed : moved gently from side to side
- spied : saw or noticed suddenly
- serpent : a snake especially a large one
- swooped : moved quickly downwards through the air
- gazed : looked, stared at
- antics : funny or playful actions
- poetic : written in the form of poetry
- concept : an idea

2. State whether the following statements are true or false :

- (i) 'Leelavati' lived in modern times.
- (ii) The book 'Leelavati' teaches mathematics using stories and verses.
- (iii) Indians learned algebra from other countries.
- (iv) The peacock flew very high in the sky.
- (v) 'Leelavati' was used as a textbook for many years

3. Find and write two Mathematical concepts that originated in India.

4. Describe how nature was used to teach Mathematics in the book 'Leelavati'.

5. Explain why India is called the birthplace of many mathematical concepts.

6. Why did Bhaskaracharya name his mathematical book 'Leelavati'?

7. Make sentences with the help of the following phrases :

- (i) to be fond of (ii) to be afraid of (iii) in search of

8. Fill in the blanks using proper preposition :

- (i) The hole is far away to / of / from the tree.
- (ii) It saw a serpent moving in / at / to its hole.
- (iii) The graceful swan glided for / from / upon the lake.
- (iv) She loved in / to / at watch the lovely lotus.
- (v) The lotus stood straight across / in / of the water.

9. Sam wants to visit his friend, who lives in Mumbai. He calls and asks how to get there. Read the responses of Sam's friend from the pink box. Frame questions for Sam to get the answers given by his friend.

Q.?

A - By bus , train, or car

Q.?

A - By train

Q.?

A - About 45 rupees.

Q.?

A - About an hour.

Q.?

A - At 8.45 am in the morning.

Q.?

A - At about 10 am in the morning.

Q.?

A - By taxi

You can get to Mumbai by bus, train or car, but the best way to get there is by train. It costs about 45 rupees, and it takes about an hour. The train leaves at 8.45 am and arrives at about 10 am. You can get to my house from the station by taxi.

10. Collect information about ancient mathematicians from India. Write five sentences on at least two of them.

(Diphthongs) :

Sound	Words
/ eɪ /	day
/ aɪ /	time
/ ɔɪ /	boy
/ aʊ /	now
/ əʊ /	go
/ ɪə /	ear
/ eə /	air
/ ʊə /	tour

◆ Read and identify the diphthongs in the given words :

11. Practice these diphthongs using appropriate words :

12. Read any book on science fiction written by Dr. Jayant Narlikar and write short book review on it.

For the Facilitator :

- Record short audio stories on ancient Indian Mathematicians and provide learners with opportunities to listen and explore how Mathematics developed over time.
- Ask learners to practice 'Diphthongs' using simple examples.

4.3 The Untold Story of Samosa

Let's do :

• Categorize the following words in the given table :

Cook	Peel	Melt	Eat
Clean	Whisk	Cut	Pour
Stir	Serve	Knead	Bake
Marinate	Pack	Grill	Grind
Decorate	Fry	Boil	Swallow

Category	Verbs
Preparation
Cooking process
Serving and eating

1. Read the article :

How was the Samosa born?

The samosa, India's most beloved snack, didn't originate in India at all. Tracing its roots to Persia as the 'Sambosa', this fried pastry travelled through trade routes, entered Mughal courts and eventually embraced the humble potato. Thanks to the Portuguese and British. From royal banquets to roadside stalls, the samosa's journey is a tale of migration, adaptation and irresistible flavour.

From Persia to Punjab : The Incredible Journey of the Samosa

The earliest whispers of this beloved triangle echo not from Delhi's bustling bazaars but from the dusty kitchens of Persia. The Iranian historian Abul Fazi Behagi mentions a dish called 'Sambosa' in the 10th century. Small, crescent-shaped pastries stuffed with minced meat, nuts, onions or dried fruits, these were nothing like the potato-filled triangles we know today.

Arabic texts from the 11th to 13th centuries also describe 'Sambusak', fried pastries beloved in Syria, Egypt and Lebanon. They were the perfect travel food compact, nourishing and easy to fry on open fires during long journeys across deserts and seas. It's easy to imagine camel caravans stopping for a meal of Sambusak, the earliest ancestors of the modern Samosa.

The story gets more delicious in the 14th century when Middle Eastern traders set sail for India. Along with silks, spices and jewels, they carried recipes. Among them was the Sambosa. India, with its vibrant kitchens and appetite for spices, took one look at this fried pastry and decided to give it a makeover.

By the Mughal period, the Samosa was not just food; it was royal food. Amir Khusrau, the celebrated poet and musician, wrote about the Sambosa being served at royal banquets, often stuffed with minced meats and dry fruits. Later, the Ain-i-Akbari, the grand record of Emperor Akbar's court, also listed it as part of the royal spread. It had moved from being traveller's food to a delicacy fit for kings.

The Potato Plot Twist

But wait where did the potato sneak in? The Portuguese brought the potato to India in the 16th century from South America. At first, Indians weren't sure what to do with it. It took the British, in the 19th century, to popularise the humble tuber.

Once the potato entered Indian kitchens, it was love at first boil. Affordable, filling and versatile, potatoes became the perfect Samosa stuffing. Slowly but surely, the potato-pea masala filling replaced meat and fruit as the staple. And thus, the iconic aloo samosa the one, we now grab at railway stations and weddings was born.

Why the Triangle?

Why is the Samosa triangular and not square or round? One theory suggests that its shape drew inspiration from Egyptian pyramids, a subtle tribute to architectural brilliance. Another theory is more practical, triangles are easier to fold, seal and fry without the filling escaping. Whatever the reason, the triangular identity stuck and the Samosa became recognisable at first glance.

The Global Cousins of the Samosa

The Samosa's family tree is sprawling. Every region it touched, gave it a new name, a new twist. In Nepal, it's the Singoda; in Myanmar, it becomes Samusa. Arabia prefers Samsas; Portugal renamed it Chamucus. East Africa treasures it as Sambusa; Israel still calls it Sambusak. Yet, despite this global lineage, it is the Indian Samosa that reigns supreme especially with that fiery potato filling.

Regional Indian Variations

India, with its infinite culinary creativity, refused to settle for just one version. Today, each region boasts its own interpretation :

- Punjabi Samosa : Large, robust, with thick crust and spicy potato-pea filling.
- Bengali Shingara : Smaller, flakier, sometimes with coconut or peanuts sneaking into the mix.
- South Indian Samosa : Filled with curry leaves, mustard seeds and chillies, often served with coconut chutney.
- Sweet Samosa : Some regions even stuff them with khoya, nuts or chocolate, proving that the samosa can be dessert too.

The Samosa may not have been born in India, but India gave it an identity the world now recognises. From Mughal banquets to college canteens, from train stations to wedding feasts, it has travelled far geographically and culturally. Its story proves one thing : food knows no borders.

So, the next time you sink your teeth into a hot Samosa, pause for a second. You're not just enjoying a snack you're partaking in a thousand-year-old story, a triangular tale of migration, adaptation and irresistible flavour.

Word Basket :

- embraced : accepted warmly
- adaptation : adjusting to new conditions
- irresistible : too attractive to resist
- incredible : amazing, unbelievable
- delicacy : a special or luxurious food
- tuber : a root vegetable like potato

- versatile : having many uses
- sprawling : spreading widely
- lineage : family history or ancestry
- robust : strong and full-bodied

2. Answer the following.

- How did the introduction of potatoes by the Portuguese and British impact the Samosa's filling and taste?
- What does the Samosa's triangular shape signify and how did it become its distinctive feature?
- Do you help in the kitchen with cooking? How?

3. Fill in the blanks with suitable words from the list :

(originated, embraced, robust, lineage, affordable)

- The samosa in Persia before coming to India.
- India the Samosa and made it her own.
- Punjabi Samosas are large and
- Every dish has a unique tracing back to its history.
- Street Samosas are and loved by all.

4. Choose the correct word from the given brackets and complete the sentence :

- The sailors sailed across the deep blue (sea / see).
- The (sun / son) of the king became the emperor.
- We will (meet / meat) at the tea stall.
- She likes to (write / right) stories about food.
- I bought a (pair / pear) of Samosas.

◆ Palindrome : A word, phrase, number or sequence of characters that reads the same backward and forward.

5. Circle the palindromes :

LEVEL MOM FOOD CIVIC NOON TASTE DAD RICE

6. Find and write two palindromes :

- (ii)

7. Arrange the given sentences given in the correct order.

- (i) The potatoes were peeled and mashed with spices.
- (ii) A farmer harvested fresh potatoes.
- (iii) The Samosas were served hot with chutney.
- (iv) A cook filled the dough with potato mixture.
- (v) The Samosas were fried till golden brown.

◆ Create :

(a) Word Art :

Make a word web around 'Samosa' using words from the story (shape, taste, history, origin, flavour, etc.)

(b) Writing Prompt :

'Imagine you are a Samosa travelling through time. Write 5–6 sentences describing your adventures.' Draw a 4-frame comic showing the Samosa's journey from ingredients to being eaten. Add speech bubbles.

8. Make a flipbook of the Samosa travelling to India...

- (i) Read news, articles, reports, stories about various food items, its journey/ development and share interesting facts with your friends.
- (ii) Prepare a self-checking questionnaire about food habits (healthy home made food / street food / packaged food).

For the Facilitator :

- Organize a food festival and encourage learners to ask questions to the participants about their experiences/recipes.

4.4

A Report about Heavy Rains

Let's do :

- Let's classify the following disaster as natural and human-made disaster.

Earthquake, Road accident, Cyclone, Terrorist attack, Tsunami, Landslide, Flood, Volcano, Riot, Stampede

Natural disaster
.....

Man-made disaster
.....

- What is the difference between earthquake and landslides?

1. Read the report.

Heavy Rains Trigger Landslides in Maharashtra

By : Subodh

Grade : Six

Date : 27 August 2024

Place : Mumbai, Maharashtra

Heavy rainfall lashed Mumbai and several parts of Maharashtra on Saturday during the Krishna Janmashtami and Dahi Handi celebrations. The continuous downpour disrupted normal life in many areas.

Due to the heavy rain, the soil became weak and caused a landslide at one location. According to the officials, at least five people lost their lives and three others were injured in the incident. Rescue teams reached the spot immediately and shifted the injured to nearby hospitals for treatment.

The heavy rainfall also resulted in waterlogging and traffic jams in several parts of the city. Many roads were submerged, causing inconvenience to the public. Authorities advised people to stay indoors and avoid unsafe areas.

In a nutshell, the incident highlights the dangers of heavy rainfall during the monsoon season. Proper safety measures and alertness are necessary to prevent such accidents in the future.

Word Basket :

- lashed : hit or affected strongly (used for heavy rain)
- downpour : very heavy rain

- disrupted : disturbed or interrupted normal activities
- landslide : sudden movement of soil, rocks, or earth down a slope
- officials : people in authority or government positions
- rescue teams : groups trained to save people in danger
- waterlogging : accumulation of water in an area
- submerged : completely covered with water
- inconvenience : trouble or difficulty caused to people
- authorities : government or official bodies in charge
- highlights : draws attention to something important

2. Read the report and answer the following :

- Which festival coincided with the heavy rainfall in Mumbai?
- How many people died due to the landslide?
- How many people were injured in the incident?
- What caused the landslide according to the officials?

3. Use the following points and write a report on a 'Tree-plantation drive' in your words :

- | | |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|
| (i) Heading / Title | (ii) Byline |
| (iii) Introduction | (iv) Details of the Incident |
| (v) Response / Action Taken | (vi) Conclusion |

4. How do geological factors and human activities together increase landslide risks?

5. If you were part of a disaster management team, what steps would you take to reduce landslide damage in hilly areas?

6. Imagine you are a reporter visiting a landslide-hit area. Write a short paragraph describing the situation using the information from the text.

7. List the contents of an emergency kit that you will need during natural disasters.

8. Write Do's and Don'ts that must follow during flood or heavy rainfall in your area.

◆ Tongue-twisters :

Phrase or sentence with similar sounds i.e. difficult to say correctly when you are speaking quickly.

- Read lorry, yellow lorry
- I scream you scream we all scream for ice cream
- Fresh fried fish, fish fresh fried, fried fish fresh, fish fried fresh
- She sells seashells by the seashore
- Three free throws
- Give papa a cup of proper coffee in a copper coffee cup

9. Find more examples of ‘Tongue-twisters’ and create your own either in your mother tongue or in English.

10. Read the following sentences and identify whether the intonation is rising ↑ or falling ↓.

(i) What are you doing?

(ii) Why did you do that?

(iii) Are you ready?

(iv) Do you need any help?

Note : For WH questions falling intonation is used while for verbal questions rising intonation is used.

Now practice this with various ‘Wh’ and ‘verbal questions’.

◆ Consonant / z /

Sound	Words
/ z /	zoo, zero, zebra
/ ʒ /	measure, treasure, television

11. Enlist / z / and / ʒ / sound words and practice :

For the Facilitator :

- Provide opportunities to listen to various English news about the environment/natural calamities and ask the learners to present main points in the class.

4.5

The Unbreakable Navdeep Singh

Let's discuss :

- Have you ever heard about the Paralympic Games? What kind of athletes participate in them?
- Do you know any sportsperson with a disability who achieved success?
- What do you think helps a person succeed physical strength or mental determination?

1. Read and understand :

‘You're worthless. Kill yourself’. These harsh words ignited a fire in Navdeep Singh. But instead of succumbing to negativity, he channelled it into an extraordinary sporting journey.

Born with dwarfism, Navdeep faced societal rejection and relentless criticism. Yet, his determination and resilience carried him to the pinnacle of success a gold medal in the men's javelin F41 event at the 2024 Paralympic Games in Paris and he recently secured a Silver medal in the Men's Javelin Throw F41 Final at the World Para Athletics Championships on Sunday, 5 October 2025.

Today, he stands tall as an Arjuna Awardee, a living testament to the power of perseverance against all odds.

‘Receiving this award from the President Droupadi Murmu is a moment of immense pride’, Navdeep shared on IG, his voice brimming with emotion. ‘This isn't just my victory; it belongs to everyone who believed in me, supported me and stood by my side during the tough times’.

Navdeep's journey began in 2012 when a young boy with big dreams received the National Child Award for winning medals at the Para Athletics National from then President Pranab Mukherjee. With hope in his heart and determination fuelling his every step, those dreams have now blossomed into a stunning reality.

Navdeep's story is a powerful reminder that, even in the face of adversity, unwavering self-belief can overcome any challenge. His triumph inspires countless others and stands as a beacon of hope for all who dare to dream big.

Word Basket :

- dwarfism : a medical condition that results in a person being much shorter than average
- relentless : not stopping or giving up
- resilience : the ability to withstand or recover quickly from difficult conditions
- pinnacle : the highest or most successful point
- Arjuna awardee : a prestigious award given to athletes in India for their outstanding achievements
- perseverance : continuing to try hard despite difficulties or setbacks
- beacon : a source of guidance or inspiration

2. Answer the following.

- (i) Who presented Navdeep with the National Child Award many years ago?
- (ii) What challenges did Navdeep Singh face in his life and how did he overcome them?
- (iii) How does Navdeep's story inspire you to tackle challenges in your own life?
- (iv) What message do you think Navdeep's story conveys about perseverance and self-belief?

3. Prepare 5-6 questions about Navdeep Singh's struggle, achievements and success to interview him.

A conjunction joins two or more words, phrases or sentences together.

John and Alex are friends.

but

I like pizza but Yogita doesn't.

or

I will take coffee or tea.

because

Let's talk :

- What do you understand by the word 'strength'?

1. Read and recite :

This is my prayer to thee, my Lord-strike strike at the root of penury in my heart.

Give me the strength lightly to bear my joys and sorrows.

Give me the strength to make my love fruitful in service.

Give me the strength never to disown the poor or bend my knees before insolent might.

Give me the strength to raise my mind high above daily trifles.

And give me the strength to surrender
my strength to thy will with love.

- Rabindranath Tagore

Word Basket :

- penury : extreme poverty, lack of money
- disown : to refuse to accept or be associated with
- insolent : showing rude and disrespectful behaviour

Biography	Autobiography
1.	1.
2.	2.

1. Read and understand :

One bright morning, Meera opened her wooden drawer and found her old brown comb lying in the corner. It was covered in a thin layer of dust, forgotten for months. She picked it up gently and brushed it clean.

Suddenly, to her amazement, the comb spoke!

“Hello, Meera,” it said softly.

Meera gasped. “Who’s talking?”

“It’s me,” replied the comb, smiling through its shiny wooden teeth. “Don’t be afraid. I’ve been waiting a long time to talk to you.”

Meera blinked in surprise. “You can talk? How?”

The comb chuckled, “Well, I may be small, but I have a long, long story to tell. Would you like to hear it?”

“I was born thousands of years ago,” began the comb proudly. “My earliest family members lived in ancient Egypt. In those days, people used burdock thorns, little sticks, and even fish bones to comb their hair. Soon, craftsmen made real combs from wood and bone, and they became prized possessions of kings and queens. People loved us so much that they even placed us inside their tombs, believing we were treasures worth taking to the next world!”

“Wow!” Meera whispered, “So you’re very, very old!”

The comb nodded happily, “Yes, I’ve seen the world change. As time passed, we became more than just tools. When the first special instruments for combing hair appeared, they became part of the hairdresser’s equipment and works of art themselves. Archaeologists have found beautifully carved combs that prove this!”

Combs Around the World -

“In the Middle Ages,” continued the comb, “in places like England, Spain, and Russia, women covered their hair but proudly displayed their combs. A beautiful comb showed how wealthy and graceful a family was. People didn’t wear them in their hair then they kept them in purses or displayed them in their homes.”

“Some of my ancestors were cut from bone by very skilful craftsmen,” said the comb with pride. “They are now kept safely in museums in Russia. Their surfaces are decorated with garlands of flowers, landscapes, and scenes of people walking, dancing or sipping tea all carved by hand!”

“In 18th century Europe, combs became part of women’s daily fashion. Ladies wore large wigs and hairpieces, and combs helped to hold them in place. In Spain, women wore colorful shawls and lace veils called mantillas, fastened with tall, shining tortoiseshell combs.” “Then, in the early 20th century, women began cutting their hair short. The comb returned to its simple, old duty keeping the hair neat and tidy.”

The Indian Heritage -

“In India, my cousins were carved from wood and ivory, decorated with delicate designs and floral patterns,” the comb went on. “As time passed, people began making us from metal and later plastic. We became part of every home, every dressing table, every school bag always ready to help.”

The Forgotten Days -

The comb sighed softly. “But one day, you brought home that shiny pink plastic comb. You used it every morning and forgot about me. You pushed me into this drawer and I lay here for months lonely and quiet.”

Meera looked down sadly. “Oh, I didn’t mean to forget you.”

The comb smiled kindly. “That’s all right, Meera. New things may look fancy, but old ones have strength and stories inside them. When your new comb broke, you came back to me and I was still strong and ready to help, just like before.”

Take Away -

Meera smiled and ran the old comb through her long hair. It glided smoothly, untangling every knot.

“You’re right,” she said softly. “Old is gold.”

The comb twinkled in the sunlight from the window. “Yes, Meera. I may just be a comb, but I’ve been part of human life for thousands of years. My job has never changed to keep people neat, clean and confident.”

Meera giggled, “Thank you, my old friend.”

“Anytime,” said the comb proudly. “After all keeping things tidy is what I was born to do!”

“Yes, please!” said Meera, sitting cross-legged on the floor, her eyes wide with curiosity.

Moral : Respect and care for the old things because they carry stories, strength and wisdom from the past.

Word Basket :

- autobiography : the story of a person’s or object’s life written by itself
- forgotten : not remembered for a long time

Amravati girl among 17 heroes awarded PM's Bal Puraskar

Dec 27, 2024

Amravati : Kareena Thapa, a 17-year-old girl who exhibited quick thinking and risked her life to save 70 families of Jai Amba apartments in Kathora area in Amravati city in May this year, was presented the 'Pradhan Mantri Rashtriya Bal Puraskar' by President Droupadi Murmu at a function organised at the Rashtrapati Bhavan on Thursday. The Union Ministry of Women and Child Development had organized the ceremony on the occasion of 'Veer Bal Din'.

Kareena is among the 17 children from across the country who were honoured with the award in various categories.

On May 15, 2024, Kareena had prevented an LPG cylinder from exploding at a flat in Jai Amba apartments. She broke the lock of the flat to gain entry. Despite the fire and smoke, she kept throwing buckets full of water and brought the fire near the LPG cylinder under control. She then pulled out the LPG cylinder to prevent it from exploding. Kareena's timely action averted a major disaster. Veer Bal Din is observed in memory of the sacrifice of Sahibzada Zorawar Singh and Sahibzada Fateh Singh, sons of Guru Gobind Singh, the 10th Guru of the Sikh community.

The award consists of a medal, a plaque and a certificate. Children who display exemplary courage and make a mark in sports, social service, science and technology, environment, art and culture and research are selected for this award.

Taking cognizance of her courage, the local Women and Child Development Office sent a proposal to the Union Ministry through the District Collector's office recommending Kareena's name for the Bal Puraskar.

The programme was attended by the Union Minister of Women and Child Development, Annapurna Devi, Savitri Thakur, Minister of State and Secretary Anil Malik.

Autumn had come and Scurry the squirrel was in a hurry. All day long, he rushed around collecting and burying nuts to be ready for the winter.

“Hello, Scurry,” squeaked Amelia Mouse. “I’ve been getting my winter bed ready. It’s really comfortable. Come and see.”

“No time!” muttered Scurry. “I’m in a hurry.”

“Oh,” sniffed Amelia. “Guess what?” Walter Woodpecker told his friend. “Today I made my best, biggest tree hole ever. Come and look!”

“No time!” snapped Scurry.

“I’m in a hurry.”

“Oh,” squawked Walter.

“Hey, Scurry! I can dig a burrow faster than anyone in the forest,” said Rocky Rabbit. “Come and watch!”

“No time!” yelled Scurry. “I’m in a hurry.”

“Oh,” sighed Rocky. That night, as Scurry slept in his cosy tree hole, the wind began to howl. Scurry woke up with a start. His house was swaying from side to side, then...CRASH!

“Help!” cried Scurry.

“What’s the matter?” called Amelia from her bed.

“My tree’s blown over,” whimpered Scurry. “Where am I going to sleep?”

“Come and share my warm bed,” said Amelia.

“Thank you,” said Scurry, quietly.

The next morning, Scurry wept when he saw his damaged home.

“Where will I find a comfortable tree hole like that again?” he cried to his friends.

“Easy!” said Walter. “I told you I’d made a great hole. It’ll be perfect for you.”

“Thank you,” said Scurry, quietly. “But how am I going to move all the nuts? My tree has fallen on top of them.”

“No problem,” said Rocky. “I can dig them out for you.”

When all the hard work was over, Scurry called his friends together.

“Come and have supper in my new home,” he said, “as a thank you for helping me.”

“No time!” said his friends.

“We’re in a hurry.”

Scurry hung his head. Then the three friends burst out laughing.

“Oh, Scurry,” they said. “We always have time for a friend!”

The Information Hunt

Warm-up :

- Where do you seek information when you want to know something?
 - ◆ Parents ◆ Teachers ◆ Books ◆ Internet ◆ Videos
- Have you ever felt confused while searching for information? Why?

1. Read and understand :

Mona felt like a sailor lost at sea. She was surrounded by an ocean of information. Shelves were overflowing with books, magazines and news papers. Although, she was in her community library, Mona felt just as lost as if she were adrift in a lifeboat.

Mona had gone to the library to find information about India's women scientist. She had watched the film based on India's successful Mars Orbiter Mission (Mangalyaan) in her school movie week. The movie shows how a dedicated team of ISRO scientists, led by a determined woman scientist, overcomes limited resources, failures and challenges to make India's dream of reaching Mars come true.

Her assignment was to write a one - page biography or life story about any one woman scientist of India.

Where to start? She wondered.

The librarian lady saw her and approached her. She showed Mona a Library Catalogue with information about offline resources.

A library catalogue is a list of all the books in a library. It helps students search for books by title, author or topic, making it easy to locate the exact book they need.

- Offline Resources (No need of Internet)

Offline resources are materials that we can use even when we are not connected to the internet. They are commonly found in schools, homes and libraries.

- Books

Books are the most helpful offline resource. They include biographies, science books and reference books that give clear and detailed information. For example, if a student wants to know about a woman scientist of India, a biography can help.

- Magazines

Magazines are published weekly or monthly. They contain articles, interviews and recent scientific updates. Students can read about new discoveries or achievements made by scientists.

- Encyclopaedia

Encyclopaedias provide short and important facts on many subjects. They include dates, summaries and pictures that help students understand a topic quickly.

- Newspapers

Newspapers give current information about events happening around us. They report awards, discoveries and scientific missions. They are useful for learning about the latest achievements.

After introducing her to offline resources, the librarian took Mona to the computer and introduced her to the online resources.

- Online Resources (Internet-Based Tools)

Online resources are materials that we can access using the internet through computers, tablets or mobile phones. They help students find information quickly.

- Websites

Educational and government websites, such as ISRO's official website / web page, provide accurate and updated information. They are useful for learning about scientists, space missions and important events.

• Digital Encyclopaedia

Online encyclopaedias, such as digital Britannica, give short explanations, pictures and facts just like printed encyclopaedias but they can be searched instantly using key words.

• Online Articles and E-Books

These provide detailed information, biographies and research material. Students can read them anytime and from anywhere.

• Educational Videos

Videos, animations and documentaries on learning platforms help students understand difficult concepts through visuals. Complex topics become easier when explained with pictures and movement.

• E-Libraries

Many schools use digital libraries where students can read books, magazines and journals online. E-libraries save time and provide access to many resources in one place.

• Why use both?

Offline resources give deep, reliable and well-organized information.

Online resources provide quick, updated and easy-to-search information.

By using both wisely, students become smart researchers who can locate correct information for any topic just like Mona, who wanted to write about Indian women scientists.

Mona was very happy. She prepared notes using books, magazines, encyclopaedia, websites and wikipedia.

She had a lot of material now. She summarized all the points and completed her assignment.

Word Basket :

- catalogue : a list of items arranged in an organized way
- resource : something that provides useful information

 I am not cruel, only truthful,
 The eye of a little god, four-cornered.
 Most of the time I meditate on the opposite wall.
 It is pink, with speckles. I have looked at it so long
 I think it is part of my heart. But it flickers.
 Faces and darkness separate us over and over.

 Now I am a lake. A woman bends over me,
 Searching my reaches for what she really is.
 Then she turns to those liars, the candles or the moon.
 I see her back and reflect it faithfully.
 She rewards me with tears and an agitation of hands.
 I am important to her. She comes and goes.
 Each morning it is her face that replaces the darkness.
 In me she has drowned a young girl and in me an old woman
 Rises toward her day after day, like a terrible fish.

- Sylvia Plath

Word Basket :

- preconceptions : an idea or opinion formed about something/somebody before enough information is available
- swallow : take in completely
- unmisted : clear, not covered
- speckles : small spots
- flickers : shines or moves unsteadily

2. Answer the following.

- What does the mirror meditate on most of the time?
- Why does the mirror say it has no preconceptions?
- Why are candles and the moon called “liars”?

3. How does the mirror reflect the woman?

4. Choose the correct poetic device :

- Faces and darkness separate us over and over :
(a) Simile (b) Metaphor (c) Repetition (d) Alliteration
- “Now I am a lake” is an example of :
(a) Simile (b) Metaphor (c) Personification (d) Alliteration
- “like a terrible fish” is an example of :
(a) Metaphor (b) Simile (c) Personification (d) Symbolism

5. Mirror, camera and AI all show your face, but who shows you and your emotions truthfully? Justify your answer.

6. Imagine a mirror is talking to you. Develop a conversation using the following points :

- Creation • Development • The reasons of its happiness and sadness
- Its experiences as it observes everyday (funny, horrible)
- Changes it notices over the years.

7. Collect and read stories of magical mirror and share with your friends.

For the Facilitator :

- Explain the figures of speech ‘Simile’ and ‘Metaphor’ by giving more examples.

6.2

Songs of the Soil

Warm-up :

(a) Which folk songs are sung in your area during festivals or on special occasions?

• Name the following musical instruments :

1. Read carefully :

Powada : Powada is a traditional Marathi ballad. It describes the heroic deeds of great leaders, warriors and historical events; powadas originated in the 17th century, during the time of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj and the Maratha Empire. The name itself means “to glorify.”

The composers of Powadas are known as “Shahirs.” The purpose of a powada is to inspire courage, spread awareness of social issues and preserve history through oral tradition. One of the most popular Shahirs of modern times was Shahir Annabhau Sathe and Shahir Krishnarao Sable.

Owi : Owi is a traditional Marathi verse form or a short poem.

Owis were created and sung by village women during daily chores such as grinding grain

on the “Jata” (grinding stone), fetching water or working in the field. It has been a part of Maharashtra’s rural life for centuries and also a part of folk literature. It expresses emotions, experiences and wisdom in simple, musical

Bihu : Bihu is a traditional folk song of Assam, sung during the Bihu festival. These songs express joy, love, youthfulness and the beauty of nature. They are lively, rhythmic and full of emotions. Traditional instruments such as the Dhol (drum), Pepa (buffalo horn pipe), Gogona (bamboo instrument) and Toka are used to create lively music. The songs and dance together show the rich cultural heritage of Assam.

Chakri : Chakri is a traditional folk song of Jammu and Kashmir, especially popular in the Jammu region. The word “Chakri” comes from the circular (chakri) formation of performers while singing and dancing. It is a narrative singing style, where stories, emotions and every experience is expressed through songs. Traditional musical instruments like the Harmonium, Dholak, Nagara (drum), Chimta and Sarang are used in Chakri songs.

Burra Katha : Burra Katha or Burrakatha is a traditional folk storytelling and musical performance popular in the states of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana. The word ‘Burra’ refers to a Tambura like string instrument used in the performance and Katha means story so Burra Katha literally means story with the burra (instrument) It has roots in ancient oral traditions like Harikatha and Yakshagana.

Word Basket :

- ballad : a type of poem or song that tells a story, often one that is dramatic, emotional or romantic. It usually has a simple structure and uses rhyme and repetition to create rhythm
- glorify : praise, honour or make something or someone seem very special, important, or admirable
- preserve : to protect something so that it stays in its original or good condition
- chores : small, routine tasks or jobs, usually done around the house
- heritage : traditions, values, culture and history that are passed down from previous generations

2. Match the pairs.

6. Write a short paragraph on 'The importance of folk songs' with the help of following web.

◆ Consonant / th /

Sound	Words
/ θ /	thin, think, thank
/ ð /	this, that, these

◆ Find more words with the sound / θ / , / ð / and practice them.

7. Enlist / θ /and / ð / sound words and practice :

◆ Consonant (y)

Sound	Words
/ j /	yes, yellow
/ aɪ /	my
/ i: /	happy
/ ɪ /	gym, symbol

8. Enlist / j /, / aɪ /, / i: /and / ɪ / sound words and practice :

9. Project work :

- Collect folk songs sung during harvest, festivals and functions from your locality.
- Record the audio of the songs that you have collected in your voice.
- Present at least one folk song in the classroom and in the school functions.
- Prepare a musical instrument using various ideas of craft. One is given below for you.

Folk Music	Two Styles of Folk Music
• Folk music is the traditional music that grows out of a region, nation or ethnic group. • In the U.S., the music includes ballads, lyric songs, lullabies, work songs, country dances, spirituals, blues and religious music.	• Traditional music is music with traditional instruments passed down through generation and still performed in its original style. Reproduced as it was originally. • Modern versions were developed incorporating modern and commercial versions of old songs in folk style. Many wrote new songs in folk style using modern issues-drugs, homelessness and race.

For the Facilitator :

- Encourage the learners to ask informal questions to their parents to seek information about festival celebration such as stories behind a song, food culture and other traditions.
- Give practice of the given consonants with more examples.

 (a) Saina Nehwal (b) P. V. Sindhu (c) Mary Kom

(Collect information about the influential women shown in the above pictures and present it in the class.)

1. Read and Understand :

Rahul showed Riya an article and teased her. It made her angry. Dadaji was sitting nearby.

Rahul, if you really think that, then you are wrong. Whether it's the sports field or the battlefield, the depths of the ocean or the vast space, women have made their mark everywhere.

Be it Kalpana Chawla and Sunita Williams, who travelled to space or Sarla Thukral, India's first woman pilot, all of them have proved that women do not lag behind men in any field.

Do you know about Malala Yousafzai, who raised her voice against the Taliban for girl's education or Emma Gonzalez, who stood against those committing cruelty with weapons?

The list of women who showed extraordinary courage is very long!

Word Basket :

- achievements : something that has been done successfully, especially through hard work or skill
- contribute : to give a part of the total, together with others
- teasing : to laugh at somebody either in a friendly way or in order to upset them
- nodded : to move your head up and down as a way of saying 'yes' or as a sign to somebody to do

2. Answer the following.

- Why do we celebrate International Women's Day?
- Can you name one woman in your life who inspires you?
- Do you think boys and girls should get the same opportunities? Why?

3. Identify the Parts of Speech in the given examples.

- Rahul laughed, Dadaji nodded and Riya smiled.
laughed -, nodded -, smiled -
- Dadaji*, I haven't even heard about many of them.
I -

The Clever Boy

Warm-up :

- Suggest suitable nouns for the word 'clever'.

- What are the qualities of a clever person?

1. Read aloud :

Cheemo, the young son of a shepherd used to go to the pasture to graze his sheep everyday. He would set out in the mornings to return just before sunset with his sheep.

One day, he sat at a place in the pasture thinking of something. Suddenly, his eyes brightened up and he tossed up his fur cap high in the air excitedly.

The fur cap came down to fall over the head of a mounted horse that was passing by. It scared the horse and it reared up on its hind legs. The rider fell off the horse.

The rider was the son of the richest merchant of the city. He was going about some business of his father in his fine clothes.

The accident angered the young man. He got up and dusted his clothes. Then, he screamed at the shepherd boy, "Stupid boy! Don't you have any sense? You frightened my horse and I fell down."

Cheemo spoke, "I had tossed my cap in joy. How could I know that it would frighten the horse by falling on its head?"

"What was the reason for such joy? Let me hear it. I would have spanked you, had I got seriously hurt."

Cheemo revealed, "My father had posed a riddle to me and I hit on the answer."

“What was the riddle?”

“What is higher than a man but is shorter than a hen?”

“What can that be?”

“Don’t you also know the answer?”

“I know, silly. But I want to hear it from you,” the young man cleverly said.

Cheemo informed proudly, “A cap! On the head it is always higher than a man. But down on the ground it is shorter than a hen.”

Cheemo’s cleverness pleased the young man, “Smart kid, huh! Now if you get me something I will give you a lot of reward. When I come back here tomorrow on my way back, keep a sheep ready for me. It shouldn’t be black, white, grey, mixed black and white or of any other colour.”

The young man departed after saying that. Cheemo thought about it deeply.

The next day, he was grazing his sheep. The young man arrived on his horse on his way back. He asked, “Why dear boy! Have you got the sheep I asked for?”

Cheema cheerfully replied, “Yes, young sir! I got it. It is at my home. You can send your man and collect it any time. But remember that it shouldn’t be Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And he shouldn’t come during morning, day, evening or night.”

The Young man laughed loudly and said, “I am very pleased at your cleverness. Take these five gold coins as your reward. And remember, if you ever need a job come to me straight away.”

The Young man gave the coins and his address to Cheemo. Then, he raced his horse away.

Word Basket :

- pasture : grassland for animals to graze
- mounted : sitting on a horse
- reared up : rose on hind legs
- revealed : told something
- reward : a gift for doing something good
- departed : went away

2. Choose the correct alternative from the given options :

(a) What is shorter than a man?
(b) What is higher than a man but shorter than a hen?
(c) What is bigger than a house?
- (iv) How did the rich man's son test Cheemo's cleverness?
(a) By asking him another riddle
(b) By punishing him
(c) By taking his sheep
- (v) What did the rich man's son give Cheemo at the end?
(a) Silver coins (b) Gold coins (c) A horse

3. Answer the following.

- (i) Why was the young man angry?
(ii) Why do you think the young man liked Cheemo's clever answers?
(iii) What reward did Cheemo receive?

4. The letters in the middle column are the first two letters of the words in column A and last two letters of the words in column B.

How many pairs of words can you make?

A		B
open	op	stop um
	or

5. Use proper punctuation marks (?, !, “ ”, .) and rewrite the passage :

Then why did you buy the fifth pot demanded the husband. The wife hesitantly said that she wanted to send the extra milk to her sister. The husband was furious and yelled at her Why do you want to give milk to your sister Do you think we run a dairy farm here Saying this he smashed all the pots in a rage But that's not fair she shouted back at him I am the one who tends the cow and takes care of it and I think I have every right to give some extra milk to my sister.

6. Riddles

- (i) riddle me, riddle me, riddle me-ree, what is this riddle? can you tell me?
as deep as house, as round as a cup,
all kings horses, can't draw it up.
- (ii) we are black and dusty, but much admired;
men look for us till they are tired.

An Imaginary Conversation

Warm-up :

- “What do you think an elderly senior scientist might say about today’s world?”
- Complete the table with the changes that have happened in the past and in the present in a particular area.

Areas	Past	Present
Communication medium
Transportation
Education
Medicine
Meal

1. Read and enjoy.

Student : How interesting and instructive it would be if I could actually talk to some of the distinguished people of the past ages! What a lot we could know about the details of their lives and their discovery or their creations! Of course, it can’t really be happy but suppose it could...

Sir Isaac Newton was a very famous mathematician and scientist of the seventeenth-eighteenth century who is chiefly remembered for having been the first man to state the law of gravity, the force by which objects, when dropped, are pulled towards the earth.

It is said that he discovered, if discovered is the right word, the law when an apple fell on his head while he was sleeping in his orchard.

Just imagine if I get a chance to speak to him. Sir Isaac Newton, dressed in the fashion of the seventeenth century, is at the door where as myself, a young university science student is studying in my room. Well our imaginary conversation could be as follows.

Sir Issac : Good evening, young man.

May I come in?

Student : (without turning round) : It sounds to me as if you’re already in. Just a moment. (Having finished the sentence, he turns.) Good evening. Why, what funny clothes you are wearing! Is this a joke?

Sir Issac : Young man, I have not come here to listen to your opinions, valuable though they may be, about my clothes. You appear just as ridiculous to me as mine, no doubt, so to you. You will please be good enough not to mention the matter again.

Student : I'm sorry if I have offended you, I'm sure, but they do look a bit old fashioned. What did you say, your name is?

Sir Issac : I didn't, but it is Isaac Newton, Sir Isaac Newton.

Student : Newton, the father of modern mathematics, the man who invented the law of gravity!

Sir Issac : Don't talk such rubbish! I didn't invent the law of gravity. Nature or God did, whichever you prefer : I discovered it. Now, may I sit down?

Student : I hope so, I mean-yes. Let me just throw these books on the floor. (He does so.) There you go.

Sir Issac : (Sits down.) Now, let me explain the purpose of my visit. I have been watching for some time and admit I have been amazed at the rapidity of the progress. I have observed the creation of the train, I have witnessed the invention of the wireless communication mode. I have seen a thousand scientific wonders into existence. But what I find out is whether man is any happier as a result of all this. I don't believe so, but I thought I would come back to the earth for a brief visit in order to talk to a modern man, to find out from him whether he is happier or not. Can you tell me?

Student : Yes, I think so. But first of all, I'm not sure that I understand your question? Do you know whether or not man is any happier today as the result of scientific progress?

Sir Isaac : That is exactly what I want to know.

Student : It seems to me a lot depends on your use of the word 'happier'. What two things are compared? Present day man and the man one hundred years ago? Two hundred? Five hundred?

Sir Isaac : Let us say five hundred, for it is really amazing to think that most scientific inventions have been made in the last five hundred years, most of the ones I am thinking of in the last fifty sixty.

Student : And then a lot depends on what makes you happy. After all, happiness is not something you can weigh or measure. I don't know, therefore, whether man is happier or not, but if you ask me, does man lead a fuller life today, I should reply yes, I think so.

Sir Isaac : What do you mean by a fuller life?

Student : I mean that today man has greater opportunities than ever before to lead a happy, healthy life, to educate himself, to amuse himself, to discover what are the things he enjoys doing and to do then.

Medical science can cure him of his diseases, so that today fewer people die at an early age as a result of illness than in the past.

Sir Isaac : I suppose so, but what do you mean when you say that he can educate himself?

Student : Well, for example, books are more plentiful and cheap today than ever in the past. In addition, the cinema and the wireless are available, if he wishes to amuse or educate himself. Don't you agree?

Sir Isaac : I think I do. But tell me, why is man so anxious to move from one place to another faster and faster? In my time, we were perfectly happy to travel about on horseback or in a coach.

Student : I suppose we travel faster and faster because we are able to, that's all. First, man invented the steam engine and then the petrol engine and more recently the aeroplane; each of these has made it possible to travel faster than before.

Sir Isaac : What advantage is there in travelling faster?

Student : Simply that if we use less time for travelling, we have more time available for other things. Surely that is an advantage.

Sir Isaac : I suppose so. (Standing up.) Well, I must be going. Thank you for allowing me to ask you so many questions. I am most grateful.

Student : Please don't mention it, it's been a great pleasure. Just before you go, will you answer a question for me? Many people believe that you invented sorry, discovered the law of gravity when an apple dropped on your head. Is it true?

Sir Isaac : I can't really remember, but I don't think so. Look out, mind your head! And when the student woke up some time later, there was quite a big bump on his head, where a picture frame had hit him while falling down.

Word Basket :

- ridiculous : very silly or funny in a bad way
- offended : hurt or upset by someone's words or actions
- rapidity : speed, how fast something happens
- witnessed : saw something happen
- bump : a swollen or sore place caused by a hit

2. Answer the following.

- (i) Who are the two speakers?
- (ii) What is the main purpose of Newton's visit?
- (iii) What are the student's opinions on modern life?
- (iv) Which humorous event happens at the end?

3. Work in pairs and perform the conversation using appropriate expressions and tone.

- (i) Imagine you met Newton. Rewrite the conversation using your dialogues. Use dialogue from the text and include at least one humorous or surprise ending.
- (ii) "Is modern man happier than people of the past?"
(Write 80–100 words giving reasons for your opinion.)

4. Speak with your friend.

- (i) Debate : 'Science has made life happier.' (For and Against)
- (ii) Think-Pair-Share : What makes you happy in life-comfort or simplicity?
- (iii) Hot Seat Activity : One student acts as Sir Isaac Newton, others ask questions about modern inventions.

5. Happiness Survey :

Conduct a small class survey, using following questions and record answers in a chart. (Use emojis for very happy, happy, sad)

How happy are you with :

Mobile games?

Selfie features?

With the use of chatgpt?

With making reels?

6. Different forms of tense are used in the conversation.

Find out at least one example of each from the conversation.

Tense	Sentence

7. Visit the library and read stories of different scientists and share with your friends.

For the Facilitator :

- Organise a day in your school on the suggested topic in Activity No. 4 and encourage the learners to use science in a positive way.

Hello Children!

If you feel uneasy about someone touching you inappropriately, you should not keep quiet. You must :

1. Not blame yourself.
2. Tell someone whom you trust.
