Tele MANAS Helpline

Tele MANAS (Tele Mental Health Assistance and Networking Across States)
(14416/ 1800-89-14416)

Under the National Mental Health Program, the centrally sponsored scheme Tele MANAS is being implemented in the state of Maharashtra from October 2022. Under the Tele MANAS Program, free 24×7 integrated and comprehensive mental health services are provided through the helpline number 14416. This includes treatment and counselling by experts for various mental problems. The information provided by you after calling the Tele MANAS helpline remains completely confidential, so students, parents and teachers should feel free to call the helpline number and tell them about their problems and doubts and get guidance on it. Tell others to take help from this facility as well.

Manodarpan

The Manodarpan Helpline (8448440632) is a free telephone service that has been made available since July 2020. It is provided by the Ministry of Education through the Manodarpan Cell at the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) to offer psychological guidance and support to students, parents and teachers. This service is available every day of the week from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM. Students, parents and teachers can call this helpline to receive the necessary guidance and counseling.

This textbook aligns with the curriculum and syllabus developed by the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT), Maharashtra, Pune-30. This book has been verified by SCERT, Maharashtra, Pune. The Coordination Committee, established under Government Resolution by GR No. Abhyas - 2116/ (Pra.Kra.43/16) SD - 4 dated April 25, 2016, approved this textbook in its meeting held on April 1, 2026, for use from academic year 2026-27 onwards.

Preface

Dear learners,

A warm welcome to Grade Four! I am very happy to place this new 'My English Book Four' in your hands. Every year, the beginning of school brings new hopes, new dreams and a new learning journey. As you step into Grade Four, you are ready to explore, ask questions and discover many exciting things through English. This book will travel with you as a friendly companion on this joyful journey of learning.

By now, you have already learnt to read simple texts, enjoy poems and stories and express your thoughts in English. This year, you will move one step further and explore English in more interesting and meaningful ways.

This textbook has been prepared according to the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, which encourages joyful, activity-based and learner-centred education. The lessons in this book include songs, rhymes, stories, conversations, role plays, language games and phonics activities, that will help you strengthen your listening, speaking, reading and writing skills.

The stories and poems in this book are about animals, people, places, nature, festivals, travel and everyday experiences that you can easily relate to. Many activities are connected to real-life situations, helping you use English confidently in your classroom, at home and in your surroundings. Through experiential and art-integrated learning, you will draw, act, discuss, think and create while learning the language.

The book also follows a multilingual approach, encouraging you to connect English with the languages you already know. The lively, colourful and child-friendly pictures will help you understand the lessons better and make reading enjoyable.

Dear learners, as you move through Grade Four, your confidence in English will grow steadily. By the end of the year, you will be able to read with better understanding, write short paragraphs, speak more clearly and enjoy English as a useful and friendly language.

I hope this textbook becomes your learning companion throughout the year. Learn with curiosity, practise with joy and keep exploring the world of English with confidence.

With best wishes for your joyful learning journey

Grade four children are expected to attain the outlined learning outcomes by year-end. Relevant content on various pages, not just those specified, can contribute to achieving these outcomes.

Instructions for Teachers and Parents

Teachers and parents should ensure that children are provided with rich opportunities to communicate ideas clearly and confidently in English.

Listening and Speaking

- Encourage children to listen carefully to stories, poems, conversations and instructions.
- Provide opportunities for oral participation through:
 - Storytelling
 - Picture description
 - Role play
 - Show and tell activities
- Motivate children to speak in complete sentences while expressing ideas, feelings and opinions.
- Encourage pair and group discussions using textbook questions.
- Help students summarise stories or poems orally in their own words.
- Allow children to discuss ideas orally before writing.

Reading

- Encourage regular reading of age-appropriate:
 - Stories
 - Poems
 - Informational texts
- Promote reading aloud with correct pronunciation, stress and intonation.
- Before reading, guide children to:
 - Observe pictures
 - Read titles and keywords
 - Predict the content
- During reading, encourage children to:
 - Pause and think
 - Understand characters and events
- After reading, ask simple comprehension questions to deepen understanding.
- Support development of independent reading habits through classroom and home reading.

Writing

- Provide guided practice before independent writing.
- Encourage children to write:
 - Short paragraphs
 - Messages and invitations
 - Simple poems
 - Dialogues and short stories
- Guide children to organise ideas with:
 - Beginning
 - Middle
 - Ending

Pay attention to:

- Sentence structure
- Basic grammar
- Spelling
- Punctuation
- Allow children to revise their writing based on feedback, not mechanical rewriting.

Vocabulary Development

Enrich vocabulary through:

- Reading
- Classroom discussions
- Real-life contexts
- Highlight new words from the textbook and explain meanings using context.
- Encourage children to use newly learned words in:
 - Speech
 - Sentences
 - Short written responses
- Maintain a word wall or personal word notebook for new words.

Pedagogical Approach

- Use activity-based, experiential and collaborative learning strategies.
- Integrate:
 - Games
 - Creative tasks
 - Projects
 - Songs and actions
- Connect classroom activities with children's daily life and surroundings.
- Use textbook exercises for practice and reflection, not rote learning.
- Encourage multiple correct responses wherever possible.

Role of Parents

- Encourage regular reading at home using textbooks and library books.
- Discuss stories and poems informally to develop interest and comprehension.
- Engage children in meaningful conversations in English.
- Appreciate child's effort in speaking and writing, focusing on improvement rather than mistakes.
- Ensure that each L.O. is focussed and ample practice is given to the learners.

Note : Use sign language and other pedagogical strategies for Children With Special Needs (CWSN) to communicate the content and acknowledge their responses.

Rainbow after Rain

Let's get ready.

FOR FREE DISTRIBUTION

- ◆ A rainbow appears when sunlight passes through raindrops.
- ◆ A rainbow has seven colours. Can you name them?

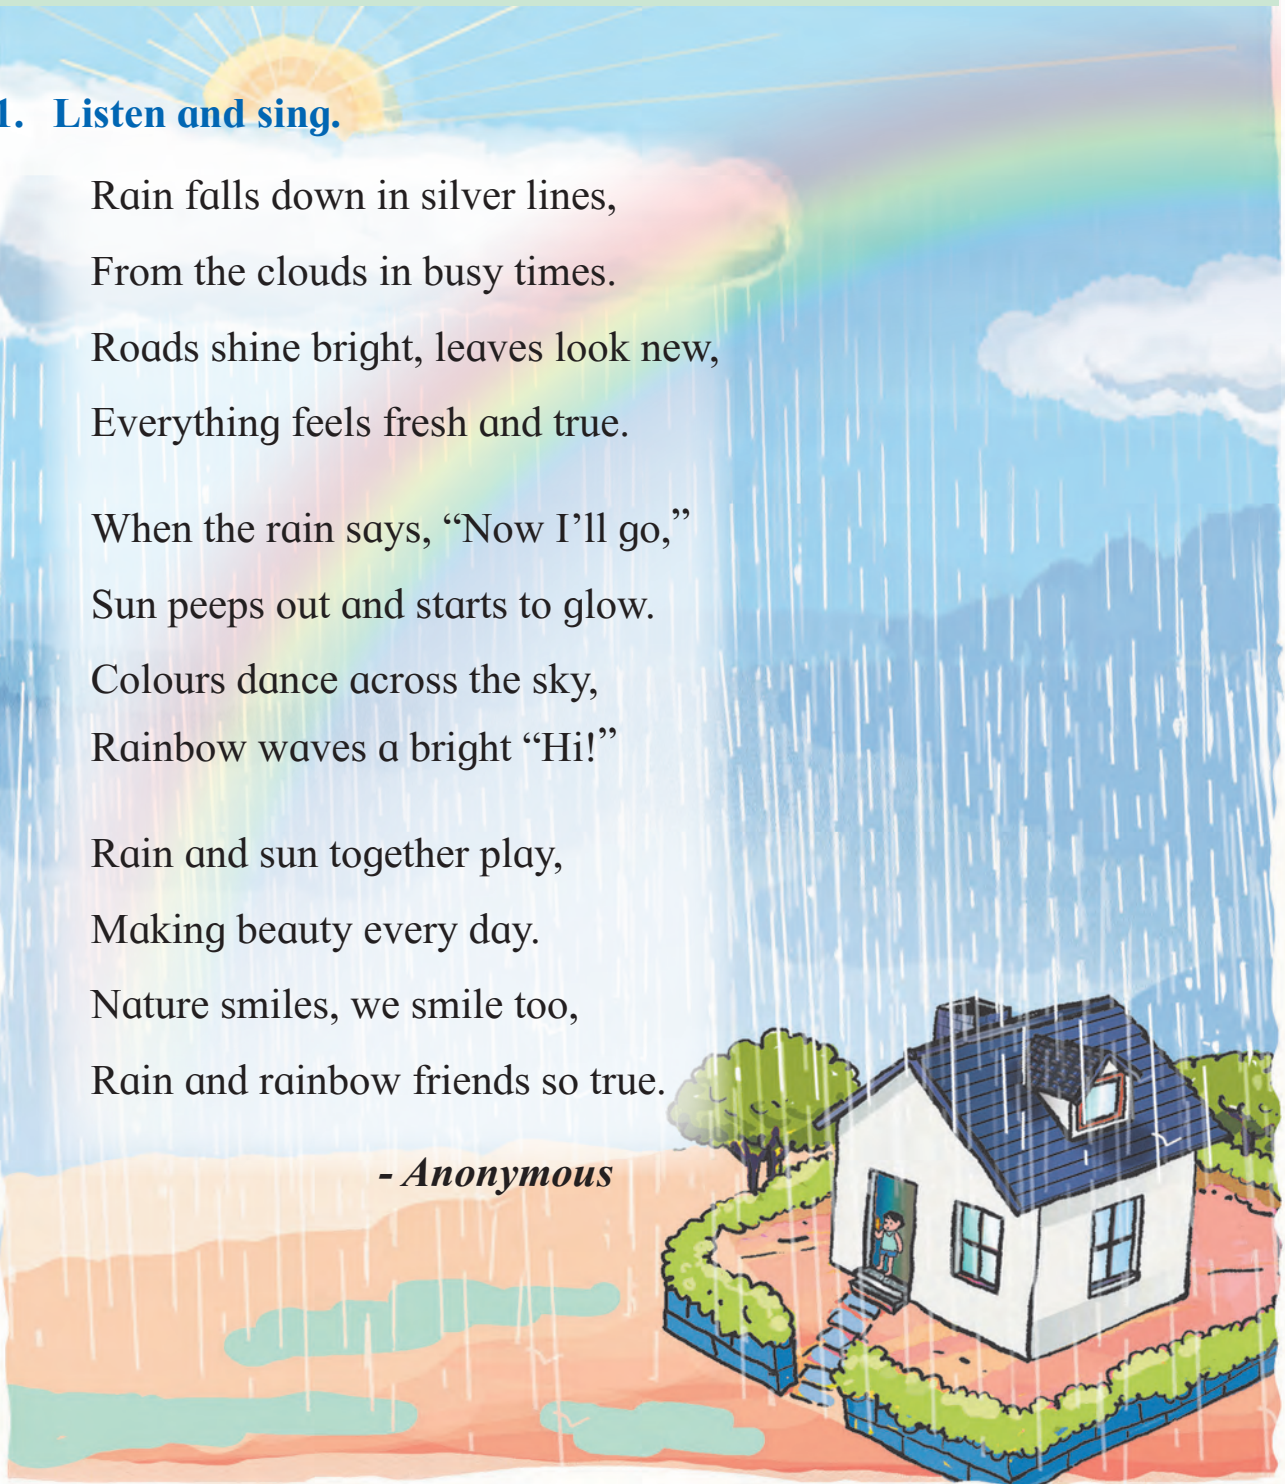

1. Listen and sing.

Rain falls down in silver lines,
From the clouds in busy times.
Roads shine bright, leaves look new,
Everything feels fresh and true.

When the rain says, "Now I'll go,"
Sun peeps out and starts to glow.
Colours dance across the sky,
Rainbow waves a bright "Hi!"

Rain and sun together play,
Making beauty every day.
Nature smiles, we smile too,
Rain and rainbow friends so true.

- Anonymous

2. Practice the rhyming pairs.

lines - times

new - true

play - day

go - glow

sky- Hi

too - true

3. Read carefully and answer the following.

- (a) Write the names of two natural things mentioned in the poem.
- (b) Who peeps out after the rain stops?
- (c) Rain falls down in lines.
- (d) Name the colours that appear in the sky.
- (e) What does the poet mean by leaves look new?

4. Match the word with their meanings.

A

- 1. peeps
- 2. glow
- 3. fresh

B

- a. clean and new
- b. looks out
- c. shine

5. Answer the following.

- (a) What do you like to do on a rainy day?
- (b) Write down the words from the poem that describe nature.

6. Do you feel happy when it rains? Express your feelings about it.

7. Compose simple and short poems on the given topics.

Rain

Nature

Birds

Trees

8. Add more words in your word bank using dictionary.

Let's be curious.

- ◆ Nature pattern
- Pond ripples • Wood grain • River currents • Cloud wisps

1. Read and do.

Art is a fun way to express our feelings!

“Babbling Art” is a colourful and joyful activity where we create art using bubbles. Yes bubbles! When bubbles pop on the paper, they leave behind beautiful patterns and designs. Each bubble creates a surprise!

It's a blend of science and creativity. We can use different colours, watch how they mix and see the magic happen. The best part of this artwork is that, there are no rules. Every artwork is unique and gives us happiness.

Babbling Art teaches us that even small bubbles can create beauty just like our small ideas can create wonderful art!

Materials Required :

- A4 size white paper or drawing sheet, bowls or cups (for mixing colours), liquid soap or bubble solution, water, food colours or poster colours and straws.

Step-by-step Instructions :

- Add a small amount of water and liquid soap into each bowl.
- Add different colours to each bowl and stir it well.
- Take a straw and blow into the coloured mixture to make bubbles.
- Slowly place the paper over the bubbles. Let them touch the paper and pop!
- Repeat with different colours to create a rainbow effect.
- Let the paper dry. You'll see beautiful bubble prints!

Do it yourself.

- (1) Use bubble art technique to create your own garden flowers, butterflies, or trees made from bubble shapes.
- (2) Once dry, outline your shapes with a black sketch pen to highlight them.
- (3) Tell few lines to describe your artwork. Example : “My bubble garden is full of joyful flowers. I mixed blue and pink to make purple!”

2. How will you give a welcome speech for an Art and Craft programme in your school?

For the Teacher :

- You can discuss with learners - How bubbles are formed. How colours are mixed. How can art teach us science. Also display all artworks on the classroom wall as a “Babbling Art Gallery.”

1.3

Gaju, the Buffalo

Let's connect.

- ◆ Do you have a pet animal? What is its name?
- ◆ Name some domestic and wild animals.

1. Listen and read.

Priya, Amar and James lived in a small village. Gaju, the buffalo was their good friend. They used to play with Gaju and give hay to eat.

One night it rained heavily. By morning, the rain had stopped, there was muddy water everywhere.

Priya, Amar and James sailed paper boats in the puddles. They came to play with Gaju.

Gaju was happy and started dancing in the mud. Splash! Splash! The muddy water got splashed on everyone. "Oh no! Our clothes got dirty," said Priya.

"We need to take a bath otherwise

Aai will scold us," said Amar.

"Let's go to the river," said James. "Come on Gaju, I will give you a bath," said Amar. But Gaju did not want to take bath, so it ran away. "Where is Gaju?" asked Priya. "There behind the tree," said Amar. When they reached near the tree. Gaju was not there.

“Have you seen Gaju, the buffalo?” asked Amar to the green grocer. “It is right behind the wall,” replied the green grocer.

The children were unhappy, they turned back to the river and sat on a rock. Suddenly the rock moved. Dhum! Dhum! All fell into the river. It was not a rock, It was Gaju, hidden in the river.

Gaju came out of the river and children came out too. Now no one needed to take a bath. No one was muddy. All laughed merrily.

2. Find the opposites of the following.

- (a) merrily × (b) front × (c) lightly × (d) bad ×

3. Fill in the blanks with the given words. (into, with, behind, in)

- (a) They used to play Gaju. (b) Gaju danced the wet mud.
(c) Gaju is right the wall. (d) All fell the river.

4. Underline the action words and circle the word that describes it.

For example : The rock moved suddenly.

- (a) All laughed merrily. (b) One night it rained heavily.

5. Fill in the past form of the word from the given story.

- (a) laugh - (b) sit - (c) come - (d) say -

6. Rewrite the following using correct punctuation marks.

- (a) priya amar and james lived in a small village
- (b) where is gaju
- (c) oh no our clothes got dirty

7. Who said the following?

- (a) We need to take a bath, otherwise Aai will scold us.
- (b) Come on Gaju, I will give you a bath.

8. Answer the following.

- (a) Do you think, children and Gaju needed a bath ? Why?
- (b) Why should we have a bath daily?
- (c) Suggest another title for the story.
- (d) Tell the story in your own words.
- (e) Tell about your favourite animal in your own words.

Play time.

Charades :

- Form two teams.
- Learners from the opposite team will come and do an action
- The other team will identify and tell the action and earn point for their team.
- Vice-versa repeat the action for other team.
- Teacher will supervise the game.
- Guide learners to use as many action words as they can.

For the Teacher :

- Encourage the learners to use and say correct action words.
- Help them with hints if needed, to get correct answers.

Do you know?

- ◆ A raindrop travels from clouds to rivers, seas and oceans and then back to cloud. This journey is called the water cycle.

1. Read and enact.

*(High in the sky, so soft and white,
A cloud floats gently, oh so light.)*

Cloud :

My little drop, so pure and round,
soon you'll travel to the ground.

When I'm heavy, dark and low, down you fall, tap-tap tapping below!

Raindrop :

Hello friends! I'm small and bright, ready for my rain-filled flight!

(The wind hums softly, clouds move slow and the raindrop falls tip-top below.)

down I come, from up
so high, From the quiet,
sleepy sky!

Tree :

Dear little drop from clouds above,
you fill my leaves with life and love.
My branches dance, my greens all gleam,
you help my roots to drink and dream!

Raindrop :

I'm happy to help you grow.
in gentle rain fast or slow.

Flower :

Tap on petals, soft and sweet,
you help my tiny buds to meet.
I bloom in pink, in red, in blue,
all fresh and bright because of you!

Raindrop :

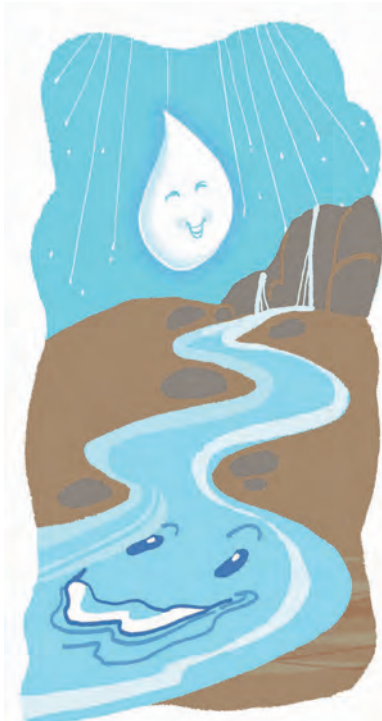

Bloom and smile, Oh my dear,
i'll sprinkle joy everywhere!

Farmer :

Rain, rain, fall on land,
grow our crops with helping hand.

Raindrop :

I fall soft, I fall slow,
seeds wake up and start to grow.
rain fills wells and rivers wide,
Helps all lives on every side.
I'm rolling down, I'm on my way,
where will I go? Please, river, say!

River :

Come along, don't fear at all,
from hill to plain, I gently
call.
We'll laugh, we'll flow, both
you and me,
till we meet the mighty sea!

Sea :

Welcome, drop, so small, so true,
the ocean waits to hold on you.
From many drops, so big I grow,
together strong, together flow.

Raindrop :

From cloud to land, from stream to sea,
what a joyful trip for me!

Sun :

Warm and bright, I shine and stay,
lift you up another day.

Raindrop :

I'll rise again, up to the sky,
to be a cloud oh my, oh my!

All together :

Rain is life, rain is cheer,
rain brings joy, both far and near.
Save each drop, keep Earth clean,
rain makes our world fresh and green!

2. Write full form of -

- (a) I'm = (b) You'll = (c) We'll = (d) I'll =
(e) He's = (f) They're = (g) I've = (h) She's =

3. Imagine you are a peacock and dancing in the rain. Express your feelings in your own words.

4. Rewrite the following by using proper punctuation marks.

the little raindrop fell from the cloud what a wonderful journey it was

5. Draw a picture of a peacock and colour it.

6. Fill in the blanks with following words in bracket. (you, my, we, I)

- (a) am very happy today. (c) I love country.
(b) are my best friend. (c) are good friends.

7. Prepare simple questions about family, garden, friends, school, etc.

For the Teacher :

- Use picture, crown or ribbon as a prop for each character.
- Use clapping rhythm in rhymes.

Respected Principal, dear teachers, loving parents and all my friends, I feel very happy and proud to stand before you today on this joyful occasion of our Annual School Gathering.

This is one of the most awaited days of the year. A day filled with excitement, joy and celebrations! It's a day when we all come together as one big school family to celebrate our talents, achievements and hard work. Our teachers and friends have spent many days preparing wonderful performances—songs, dances, skits, speeches, craft exhibition and many more. We have practised with full enthusiasm and teamwork to make this day a special for everyone.

I take this opportunity to welcome the respected chief guest, who has taken the time to be present here to appreciate us. I feel honoured to have you all with us today. After this, I welcome and offer my heartfelt regards to the most important person in our school i.e. our Principal. He always guides and inspires us to do our best. I extend a warm greeting to our dear teachers, who work tirelessly to help us learn and grow. Let's all say 'Hello' and 'Thank you' to our wonderful parents, who always support and encourage us in everything we do. I express my happiness to see you all here for our gathering. How can I forget you, my dear friends? I'm delighted to see such happy faces in the audience today. Let's give a big hand to everyone who made this event possible!

Dear friends, let's enjoy every moment of today's programme. Let's clap for every performance and cheer our friends! This is our day! a day to shine, smile and celebrate together. Once again, I warmly welcome everyone to our school gathering. Let's begin the programme with happiness in our hearts and a big round of applause! Thank you!

1. Read and comprehend.

Charu was very excited. She was visiting her grandparents' village. The village looked different that day. There were colourful decorations everywhere and people looked happy and busy.

Charu heard drums beating and bells ringing.

"Aaji, why is everyone so happy today?" she asked.

Aaji smiled and said, "Today is Bail Pola, a special festival of Maharashtra."

Soon, Charu saw bulls standing proudly. Their horns were painted with bright colours. They wore bells, flowers and Jhul (shiny cloths).

"Why are the bulls decorated?" Charu asked again.

Aaji replied, "These bulls work very hard in the fields for the whole year. Today we thank them for helping farmers to grow crops."

Charu watched as people took the bulls around the Hanuman Mandir. Children clapped, elders prayed and the bulls walked calmly with bells ringing. Charu felt very happy.

“Do the bulls understand our love?” Charu asked softly.

Aaji said, “They may not speak, but they feel our care.”

Charu gently touched a bull and smiled.

“Thank you, dear bull,” she said. “Because of you, we get food.”

That day, Charu enjoyed Bail Pola a lot. She learned that saying thank you is not only for people, but also for our silent helpers.

2. Answer the following.

- ◆ Shekaru uses its long tail like a balance stick while jumping from tree to tree. It can jump farther than the height of a classroom in one leap.

1. Read aloud.

The Shekaru that is the state animal of Maharashtra is the Indian giant squirrel. Ratufa indica is the scientific name of Shekaru. It is also known as the Malabar giant squirrel and is a large, multi-coloured tree squirrel endemic to India, with its habitat concentrated in the Western Ghats of Maharashtra.

Shekaru is a large squirrel with a head-body length of 25 to 50 cm and a tail that is about the same length. It has a weight of around 1.5 to 2 kg and can be a variety of colours, including shades of black, brown and maroon.

Its large, powerful claws help it to grip the barks and branches of the trees. They build multiple globe-shaped nests in tall, profusely branched trees and rarely descend from the high forest canopy. The squirrel makes shrill sounds and high-pitched alarm calls that reverberate through the forests where it is found.

It is an arboreal (tree-dwelling) animal found in the canopy of deciduous and evergreen forests. Found mainly in the Western Ghats of Maharashtra, especially in Bhima Shankar Wildlife Sanctuary, Amboli, Radhanagari and Tamhini Ghat. Bhimashankar Wildlife Scantuary was created for protecting the habitat for the 'Shekaru'. This sanctuary is part of the Western Sahyadri mountain ranges and spread over 130+sq. kms. It is rich in floral and faunal diversity. A variety of birds, animals, insects and plants can also be seen here.

Shekaru symbolizes the rich biodiversity of Maharashtra and its conservation is important for the health of the state's ecosystems.

FOREST DEPT TO CONDUCT STUDY ON GIANT SQUIRREL AND INDIAN GAZELLE WITH EYE ON CONSERVATION

12th Sept, 2024

Pune: The wildlife wing of Pune Forest Department will soon carry out two distinct studies on conservation of Shekaru (giant squirrel) and habitat management and threat analysis of Chinkara (Indian gazelle).

This will help the department to draw up a conservation strategy by gathering baseline data of the population of these two animals and their environment, said an official.

Forest officials said that the main focus of the giant squirrel study would be on their necessary conservation measures. Since the department has already located the habitat and gathered population data of giant squirrels, more research is necessary to fully comprehend their conservation strategy. “While we know of their population and behavior, their reaction to anthropogenic pressures will help us work on conservation strategy better. Their behaviour will also help to understand their ecosystems and any threat to their survival. For this, we will study and follow up on them for three years and breeding cycles. “There are around 5,000 giant squirrels at Bhimashankar Wildlife Sanctuary, according to data from previous year’s census”, said Tushar Chavan Deputy conservator of forest (wildlife).

1. Read and understand.

Last week, Vihan and his classmates visited the Rainbow Crayons Factory. Everyone was very excited. “I couldn’t wait to see the rainbow machines!” said Vihan. Their teacher, Mrs. Shahin, smiled and told them to stay together and listen carefully.

Soon, their bus stopped in front of a colourful gate that read “Welcome to the Rainbow Crayons!” Giant crayons stood on both sides of the entrance. Red, blue, green, yellow and purple almost as tall as their teacher! The walls were painted with bright swirls and smiling colour characters. “It looks like a rainbow palace!” shouted Akshata in delight.

At the gate, the factory manager, Mrs. Anuradha, welcomed them warmly. “Welcome, young artists! Come and see how your crayons are made!” she said. The children laughed and quickly put on the caps, masks and safety glasses.

When they stepped inside, the air smelled sweet and waxy. They heard the hum of big machines. Mrs. Anuradha pointed proudly and said, “This is our melting tank. We melt white wax here until it becomes hot and smooth. It looks like a pot of magic!” whispered Mukta.

Synthia raised her hand curiously. “Excuse me, Madam, what is this wax made of?” Mrs. Anuradha smiled. “Great question, young explorer! This wax is made from paraffin, a kind of soft, oily material that comes from natural oils. It helps the crayons stay firm but easy to draw with.”

Mrs. Anuradha stirred a pot with a long stick. “Now we add colour pigments red, blue, green, yellow, orange, even gold and silver! Each colour is mixed carefully so it shines bright.” The children clapped as the liquid wax turned into beautiful shades.

She led them to another corner. “Here is the moulding machine,” she explained. “It fills hundreds of small moulds with colourful wax. When the wax cools, it becomes hard just like the crayons you use in school!” The children watched wide-eyed as shiny new crayons popped out of the moulds.

“Next, the crayons travel through a cooling tunnel,” said Mrs. Anuradha. “They take a little rest here and come out cool and smooth. Some are even polished to make them shine. In this room, the labelling machines roll tiny paper wrappers around each crayon. Then they travel along this belt. Look how neat and shiny they are!” said Mrs. Anuradha. “Wow! They look ready to draw!” said Gandhar.

Finally, Mrs. Anuradha showed them the packing section. “Here, we pack the crayons into colourful boxes. And now, one for each of you!”

A Letter to My Friend

1. Read aloud.

Dear Shaurya,

How are you? I hope you are fine. I am writing this letter to tell you about our annual school gathering.

Our annual gathering was celebrated last week in our school. The school was beautifully decorated with lights and flowers. Many students participated in dances, songs, skits and speeches. I took part in a group dance. The chief guest praised the students for their wonderful performances.

Prizes were given to the winners and we all enjoyed the programme very much. I missed you a lot on that day. I wish you were here to enjoy it with me. Please write back soon.

Your's lovingly,
Rutva.

- ♦ A small help can make a big difference in someone's life. Kindness is always cherished. Helping others makes us happy.

1. Read and understand :

He was poor but he did not give up on his dream. In the morning, he worked as a newspaper delivery boy. Later he went door to door selling flower garlands and fruits. After that, he hurried to school. People paid him at the beginning of every month and he used part of this money to pay his school fees. The remaining he gave to his mother, who, in turn, handed him a tiny amount of pocket money. One day he was very hungry but did not have enough money to buy food. He decided to request the person at the next house for some leftover food. However, when a lovely young woman, Mira, opened the door, he became a tad nervous and asked for a glass of water. Mira thought the boy looked hungry. So, she brought him a large glass of milk. He drank the milk slowly, savouring every drop of it. Then, he asked Mira, "How much do I owe you, Madam?"

"Nothing, young man," Mira replied. "My mother has taught me never to take payment for a deed of kindness."

“I thank you from bottom of my heart for your kind help,” he said and left. A few years later, Mira fell critically ill. The local doctors sent her to a hospital in the city, where they called in a specialist, Dr.Tarun, to study her case. When he heard the name of the town his patient came from, a strange light filled his eyes. Immediately he rushed to the ward to see her. He recognised her at once. He went back to the consultation room promising himself that he would do everything to save her life.

Mira put up a long struggle and she won the battle eventually. When she was ready to be discharged from hospital, Dr.Tarun cleared her bill. He thought for a little while as he looked at it and then wrote something on it. The bill was then sent to Mira’s room. She opened the envelope with some fear for she thought it would take the rest of her life to pay it. But when she looked at the bill, something written on it caught her attention. Neatly written were the words, “Paid in full with a glass of milk.”

One bright day, the Sun was shining happily in the sky. Suddenly, a thought came into his mind. "Everyone in the world enjoys a holiday," he said to himself. "But I have day and night work. The Moon and stars rest when it is cloudy. But I have never taken a holiday. I too deserve one!" So, the Sun decided to enjoy a holiday. At once he disappeared from the sky.

The farmers working in the fields were shocked. Suddenly darkness surrounded them. They could not continue their work.

Birds were flying to collect food for their young ones. But the sudden darkness puzzled them. They flew back to their nests. That day, their little ones remained hungry.

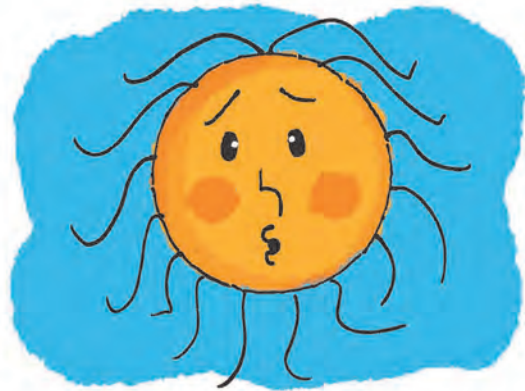

Snow on the mountain peaks stopped melting. Rivers stopped flowing. Plants began to dry up without sunlight.

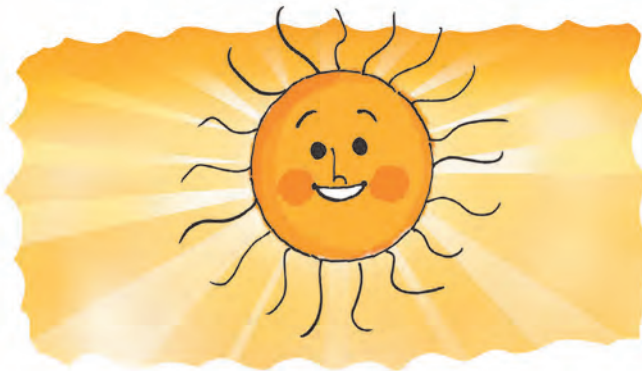

At one place, a cricket match was at its most exciting moment. Only two overs were left. Suddenly, darkness spread everywhere. There was chaos among thousands of spectators.

From above, the Sun watched everything. He saw trouble and confusion everywhere. “The world cannot go on without me,” he thought. “What is the use of such a holiday?” The Sun changed his mind at once. “Holiday cancelled! Return to work immediately!” he said. In a moment, he was back in the sky, shining brighter than before.

The world became active again. People returned to their work. Nature smiled once more. The Sun touched his ears and promised, “Holiday? Oh no! Never again!”

Let's connect.

- ♦ Have you ever helped someone who was sick or sad?
- ♦ How did you feel after helping others?

1. Read and comprehend.

This is a true story about two doctors Shri. Prakash Amte and his wife, Sau. Mandakini. When Prakash was a little boy, he used to go everywhere with his father. His father, Baba Amte, was a kind person. He didn't like to see anyone hurt. So he had given up his profession of a lawyer in the city to go and work with leprosy patients. Prakash grew up feeling the same way as his father about people and animals.

Prakash was soon a doctor. Now, he too could help people who were in pain. He and his young wife, Dr Mandakini, went to live in Bhamragad, which is located in a dense forest in Maharashtra. Prakash had been there once with his father. There were many tribal people in Bhamragad, but no doctors at all.

Bhamragad is the place where the people of the Madia-Gond tribe live. The tribal people were very frightened of the doctors because they were strangers. Whenever they saw the doctors they would run away into the forest.

Prakash and Mandakini built a small hut in the village of Hemalkasa in Bhamragad, close to where the Madia-Gonds lived. And they waited.

The doctors remained patient, waiting for three long years for the local people to trust them. And then one night, Mandakini suddenly heard a noise outside her hut! It was a group of Madia-Gonds, carrying a sick person. "Please help," they said. By now, some of them had realized that Prakash and Mandakini were their friends and would do everything to save their loved ones.

Read and learn.

forest : a place with many trees

tribe : a group of people living together hospital : a place where sick people are treated stranger : a person we do not know brave : not afraid to help others frightened : feeling scared

leprosy : a type of skin disease

As time went by, the tribal people became good friends of the two brave doctors. Some of them helped Prakash and Mandakini build the first hospital at Hemalkasa.

(A few years later, they built a nice school for the Madia-Gond children.) They also created, a safe place for orphaned wild animals to live, which was called Amte's Ark. Soon, Amte's Ark had many animals like leopards, sloth bears, snakes, birds, deer, owls, crocodiles, hyenas and monkeys.

Dr. Prakash Amte and Dr. Mandakini Amte dedicated their life for helping others, just as Dr. Prakash's father Baba Amte.

2. Guess the meaning of following words.

- orphan

3. Fill in the blanks.

- (a) Prakash Amte's father was
- (b) Dr. Prakash Amte's family went to live in
- (c) The tribal people were called

4. Write true or false.

- (a) There were many doctors in Bhamragad.
- (b) The tribal people trusted the doctors immediately.

Let's get ready.

- ◆ Look at the following pictures and discuss.

1. Read and think about it.

Every morning, the people in Mandar's village walk a long distance to collect water from the tankers. Few years back, many trees from the village were cut down to make space for new buildings. Since then, the riverbed beside the village has become smaller and the soil looks dry and cracked.

Yesterday, Mandar saw his teacher planting small saplings near the school. She said, "If we care for these today, they will care for us tomorrow." Mandar and his classmates too decided to plant saplings and water them every day. Now it's Mandar's dream to make his village green again and solve the problem of water.

2. Think and write.

- Why do villagers have to walk a long distance to collect water?
- What caused the riverbed to become smaller?
- What does the teacher mean by "They will care for us tomorrow?"
- Read the text carefully and draw a picture of "My dream village."

The Story of a Letter

Let's think.

- ◆ How do you pass your message to others?
- ◆ What do you do if the person is far away?
- ◆ What will you do if you don't have mobile phone, laptop or internet?

1. Read and understand.

It was a bright Wednesday morning. All the students of Class IV were excited as the Inter-School Sports Competition was coming soon. After the morning assembly, coach sir Mr. Shah entered the classroom. He smiled and said, “Good morning, children. The sports competition will be held next week. Our school team must practise more. Who would like to stay after school for an hour to practise on the playground?”

All hands went up at once! “Me, Sir! Me!” shouted Arya, Swara, and Pratik together. Mr Shah laughed. “Very good! But we need to take permission from our principal to use the ground after the school hours.” The English teacher Miss Neha listened the conversation and found the good opportunity to teach her class how to write a Formal Letter. She discussed about her idea with Mr. Shah that a real situation would make the learning more effective and interesting.

That afternoon, Mr. Shah and Miss Neha, helped the students write a formal letter to the Principal. She began to teach her class how to write a formal letter.

Formal Letters are written for official purposes. They are polite, respectful and written in a proper format. She explained various parts of a Formal Letter. The Sender's Address, the Date, the Receiver's Address, the Subject of the letter, the Salutation, the Body of the letter, the Closing with polite ending and Sender's name at the end.

After quite a few errors, corrections and changes, here's the letter that class IV wrote to their principal. It was written very neatly.

Here's the letter that the students wrote.

From

The students of Grade IV
Nutan Vidyalaya,
Krida Marg,
Krida Nagari
Date : 15 August 2026

To,

The Principal,
Nutan Vidyalaya,
Krida Marg,
Krida Nagari.

Subject : Permission to practice on the playground after school hours.

Respected Madam,

We, the students of Grade IV, request you to kindly allow us to use the playground for an hour everyday after the school is over.

We are preparing for the upcoming Inter-School Sports Competition under the guidance of our coach. We promise to maintain discipline and take care of the school property.

Kindly grant us permission for the same.

Thank you

Yours obediently,

The students of Grade IV.

The next morning, the class monitor, Swara and other students, went to the Principal's office with the letter.

The Principal read it carefully, smiled and said, "You have written a very polite letter. I am happy to see your teamwork. Permission granted!"

The students cheered.

"Thank you, Madam!" they said together. From that day onwards, the children practised regularly on the playground every evening for one extra hour.

Mr. Shah taught them new games and techniques. At the end of the week, the school team won first prize in the competition!

Read and learn.

excel : perform extremely well running errands : going out to get something laundry : washing of clothes

barriers : (here) anything that prevents something from happening

2. Answer the following :

- (a) What work does dad do at home?
- (b) What is brother helping mom with?
- (c) Where does the lady pilot fly?
- (d) What do you learn from the poem?

3. (a) What does the given line portray?

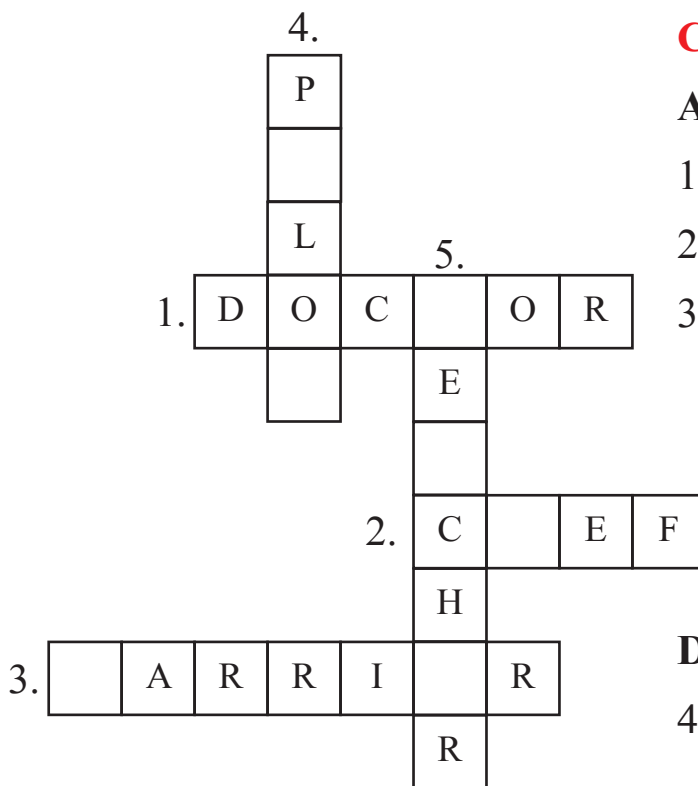

Let's break down any barriers

And get the job to the ones who will.

(b) What barriers is the poet talking about?

4. What kind of job/work do you like the most? Give reasons for your answer.

5. Solve the puzzle.

Clues :

Across :

1. A person who treats sick people
2. A person who cooks food
3. Something that stops people from doing jobs equally

Down :

4. A woman in the poem who flies a plane
5. A person who teaches students

6. Find out antonyms/opposites of the following from the poem.

- hate ×
- join ×
- fails ×

A Scientist with a Curious Mind

Let's explore.

- ♦ Have you ever looked at the night sky? What did you see there?
- ♦ Have you ever asked questions like Why? How?
- ♦ Can curiosity help us to learn new things? How?

1. Read and know.

Jayant Vishnu Narlikar is one of India's most famous scientists.

He was born on July 19, 1938, in Kolhapur, Maharashtra.

His father, Vishnu Narlikar, was a mathematics professor of Mathematics and his mother, Sumati Narlikar, was a scholar. Growing up in such a learned family, Jayant loved reading books and solving mathematical problems.

From his childhood, Jayant was very curious about the stars and the universe. He often looked at the night sky and asked, "Why do stars shine?" and "How big is the universe?"

These questions made him curious to learn more about the world beyond Earth. His curiosity made him interested in Science. He believed that asking questions is the first step towards learning.

After finishing school, Jayant studied at Banaras Hindu University, where he was an excellent student. Later, he went to Cambridge University in England for higher studies. There he worked with great scientists and learned about the mysteries of the universe. His main field of study is cosmology, which means the study of how the universe began and how it works.

Jayant Narlikar's discoveries helped the world understand the universe better. His research made him famous, not only in India but also in many other countries. He received many national and international awards for his outstanding work in science.

Jayant Narlikar is not only a scientist; but also a wonderful writer. He wrote many books and stories in English and Marathi to make science easy and enjoyable for children. He wanted young students to love science, ask questions and explore the world around them.

Jayant Narlikar's life teaches us that curiosity, hard work and imagination can take us to great heights. He inspires us to look at the stars, wonder about the universe and never stop learning. He is truly a shining star of India's scientific world!

He received many national and international awards and several honorary doctorates from famous universities. In 1965, he was honoured with the Padma Bhushan by the Government of India for his early scientific work. Later, in 2004, he received India's second-highest civilian award, the Padma Vibhushan, for his outstanding research in cosmology and his contribution to Science.

Read and learn.

universe : everything that exists especially all physical matter including all the Stars, Planets, Galaxies, etc. in space galaxy : one of the independent groups of stars in the universe research : detailed study to discover new facts

curious : eager to know and learn new things inspiration : something or someone that makes you want to do something great achievement : something that a person has done successfully through hard work or skill civilian award : an honour given by a government to an individual for his outstanding achievements or service

2. Fill in the blanks.

(a) Dr. Jayant Narlikar is a famous Indian

(b) He was born in the year

(c) He received the Padma Vibhushan award in

3. Explain in your own words.

(a) What is Dr. Jayant Narlikar famous for?

4. Make list of scientists honoured with the following awards.

- Padma Bhushan
- Padma Vibhushan
- Padma Shri
- Bharat Ratna.

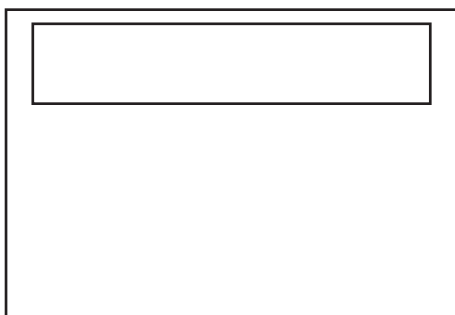

5. Do you think curiosity helps us to become a scientist? How?

6. Design your own Science storybook cover by using pictures as given below.

Add your name as an author.

Write the title: e.g. “My Journey through the Universe.”

- ◆ How do you understand that someone is knocking at your door?
- ◆ Can you identify people/animal by their voice or sound?

1. Read and comprehend.

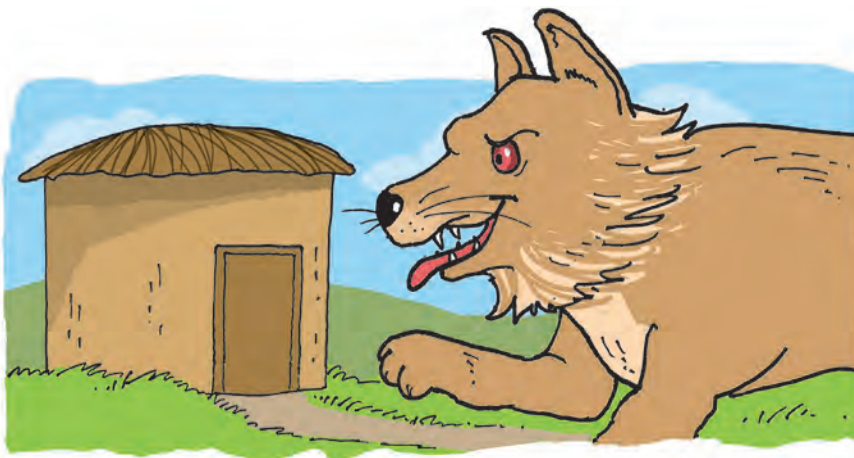

Once there was a goat. She had a small kid. The two of them lived in a small cottage that had only one door for entry. The goat had sharp horns that gave shivers to the hungry wolf who wanted to eat the kid. So, in the presence of the goat, he dared not come anywhere near the cottage.

The bad and hungry wolf would stay at a distance and cast a greedy look at the prancing kid. He drooled all the time imagining the feast of the tender meat of the goat's kid.

How to make the dream come true was the problem? How?

The goat did not stay at the cottage all day long because she had to feed herself. At every sunrise, the goat used to go to the pasture to graze green grass to produce milk for the kid. Before leaving, she would tell her kid not to open the door for anyone in her absence.

The kid was obedient and listened to his mother carefully.

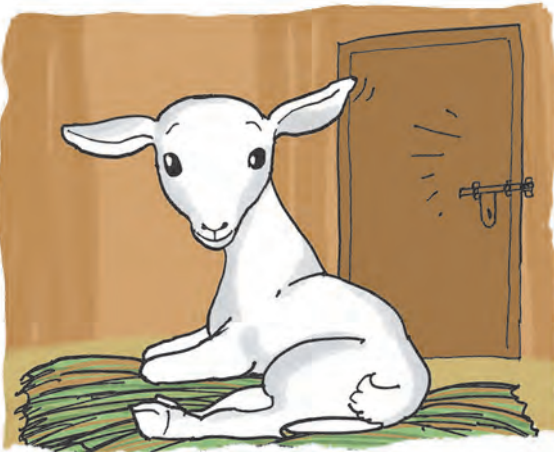

Whatever she said were words of wisdom to him. She had taught sound knowledge to her kid.

One day, the wolf heard the goat instructing her kid, “Don’t open the door for anyone. If someone comes, ask him to say ‘Death to the wolf’ and knock three times.” Now the wolf knew what he had to do.

When the goat had gone out of the sight, he quietly walked to the goat's cottage and called out to the kid, “Open the door.”

Say, “Death to the wolf and knock three times,” the kid responded from inside. The wolf smiled and his mouth watered as he hoped that he could easily fool the kid because he knew what to say in answer.

The wolf accordingly said “Death to the wolf” and knocked three times with his paw. The kid announced, “I will not open the door. You are not the goat. You sound more like a wolf.” The wolf was disappointed. He wondered how the kid had recognised him. So, he asked, “How did you

Read and learn.

prancing : moving with high springy steps greedy : wanting more than one needs

drooled : drip saliva uncontrollably from the mouth pasture : a grassy place where animals eat grass graze : to eat grass in the field

obedient : one who listens and follows instructions wisdom : good sense or smart thinking

hooves : hard feet of animals like goats, cows and horses paws : the soft feet of animals like dogs and wolves sharp : having an edge or point; also means clear or loud know?” The kid replied, “Because goat hooves are hard. Their knock makes a sharp sound like tuck tuck. Wolf knocks are dull like thump thump thump.”

The wolf sighed and went away. The kid had dealt him a knock out. In fact, goats have hard hooves to knock with, while wolves have soft paws for the task.

2. Fill in the blanks.

- (a) The goat has sharp
- (b) The wolf had soft
- (c) The kid was and listened to his mother.
- (d) The goat went to the to graze.
- (e) The wolf tried to the kid

3. Answer the following.

- (a) Who lived in the small cottage?
- (b) What did the goat tell her kid before going out?
- (c) What did the wolf overhear?
- (d) What did the kid ask the visitor to say and do before opening the door?

4. Think and answer.

- (a) If someone knocks at your door when your parents are not at home, what questions will you ask to the stranger?
- (b) How did the kid use knowledge from its mother?
- (c) In daily life, when can you use 'sound knowledge' to stay safe? Give one example.

5. Why do animals make different sounds? Discuss.

6. Fun time.

Look at the picture. Identify it and make its sound.

For the Teacher :

- Guide learners to understand that true learning means correct understanding not just guessing or copying.
- Motivate them to ask various questions on the given context.

Football - My Journey on the Field

Do you know?

- ♦ A football match is played between two teams. Playing football keeps our body healthy and strong. Football teaches teamwork and discipline.

1. Read aloud.

Hello, friends! Do you know who am I?

I am a football, round and bouncy, full of energy and fun! Every morning, I wait eagerly on the playground. When the players arrive, my adventure begins! The whistle blows and I start rolling, bouncing and flying all over the field. The players kick me, pass me and chase me from one goalpost to another. Sometimes, I spin fast; sometimes, I stop suddenly. When I reach the goal, everyone cheers, “GOAL! GOAL!” and I feel like a star!

I am made of leather or rubber, filled with air and stitched tightly so that I can bounce high. I travel to many places like schools, stadiums and parks. Wherever I go, I bring joy, teamwork and excitement. Even when I get muddy or flat, I know, I have made many children happy. That’s my favourite goal, spreading smiles everywhere!

Read and learn.

bounce : to spring up after hitting the ground whistle : a small sound device used by a referee

goalpost : the place where players try to score

teamwork : When a group of people work well together stadium : a large playground for sports

2. Match the pairs and use them in sentences :A kick

goal

- ♦ Which forts did you visit?
- ♦ Why the forts were built on hills?

1. Read and know.

Lohagad Fort is a famous hill fort in Maharashtra near Lonavala. The Lohagad fort is more than one thousand years old. It is surrounded by hills, greenery and beautiful views of Sahyadri's range. Many students, tourists and trekkers visit this fort.

Lohagad Fort is important in Indian history. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj conquered this fort in 1648. He used it to keep treasure and protect his kingdom. The fort has big stone walls, strong gates, water tanks and old caves. A special part of the fort is Vinchukada, which looks like a scorpion's tail.

In 2025, Lohagad Fort became a part of the UNESCO World Heritage Site under Maratha Military Landscapes. This means the fort is important for the whole world. People can reach Lohagad by train or road up to Malavli and then walk to the fort. Today, the government is taking care of the fort and making it safe for visitors.

2. Fill in the blanks.

- (a) Lohagad fort is located near
- (b) Lohagad fort is a part of the world heritage site.

3. Imagine you are visiting Lohagad fort. Write two sentences explaining how you will reach the fort.

4. List two reasons why Lohagad fort was important for the rulers.

5. How does the structure of fort help in its protection?

6. Do you think, Lohagad fort should be protected? Write two reasons to support your answer.

7. What does UNESCO stand for? Find and write more information about it.

8. Collect and write the names of important forts in Maharashtra.

9. Describe Lohagad fort in your own words.

(B) Read and answer.

ASI INSTALLS IRON RAILINGS FOR TOURIST SAFETY AT LOHAGAD

Pune : The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) started installing and repairing railings for the safety of tourists at the Lohagad Fort near Lonavala, off the Pune-Mumbai highway, about 60km from Pune.

The fort has an extended fortified spur called 'Vinchukada' scorpion's tail because of its resembling shape. ASI officials said the railings are being set up as visitors often go to a cliff to spot a top view of the area. The fort rises to an elevation of over 3,300 feet. According to ASI records, about 10,000 people visit the fort monthly.

"We first laid railings on the fort in 2016. In eight years, some of them are junked and rusted, while a few were dismantled. So the repair was essential to restrict people from entering prohibited, risky sites on the fort. We initiated the work a few weeks ago. The entry to this zone of the fort has been restricted for the people. It will be opened for them in the coming weeks," said Gajanan Mandaware, the senior conservationist of the ASI Pune branch.

OCT 24, 2024

1. Name the organization that installed the railings.

(1) Police (2) ASI (3) Forest Department

2. What is the height of Lohagad Fort?

3. Answer the following :

(a) Why did ASI repair and install new railings at Lohagad fort?

(b) What is Vinchukada?

(c) Why are some areas of the fort restricted to enter?

4. Imagine you are a safety officer at Lohagad fort. Write 3 safety rules for tourists.

For example :

- Do not cross the iron railings.

5. Give reasons :

Do you think installing railings is important at historical places? Why?

6. Create a poster with a slogan on :

“Our heritage, our pride.”

7. Write 3-4 meaningful sentences about Lohagad fort using proper nouns and rewrite the same sentences using suitable pronouns.

For the Teacher :

- Show pictures, maps or short videos of forts to help learners visualize their strength and structure.
- Emphasise importance of bravery, planning, leadership and protection of heritage.

Why the Sea is Salty?

Let's connect.

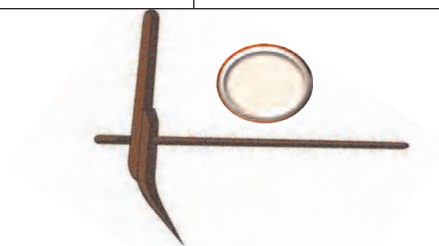

- ◆ What comes to your mind when you hear the word 'sea'?
- ◆ The sea is vast and deep. Can you imagine what might be laying at the bottom?
- ◆ Why do you think the sea water tastes salty?

- ◆ People long ago used these tools to work hard every day. They are still being used at some places. Do you know their names and functions?

1	Plough	To plough the soil before planting seeds
2	Hand mill	To grind grains into flour
3	Spinning wheel	To spin cotton into thread
4	Mortar and pastel	To crush spices, herbs or grains by hand
5	Handloom	To weave threads into cloth
6	Lantern	To give light at night

1. Read and understand (Part-1).

Long ago, in a village by the cold northern sea, there lived two brothers- Erik and Hans. Erik was very wealthy but greedy and proud, while Hans was poor but gentle and generous. The brothers were poles apart in their behaviour too. Where Erik saw only his comfort and cared little for anyone but himself. Hans was always ready to lend a hand to those in need. He worked hard each day and shared whatever little he had.

One harsh winter evening, the wind howled around the Hans' small cottage. His hearth was cold, his cupboard bare, and his children's stomachs empty. "I must find something for them to eat," he thought, wrapping his thin coat tighter around his shoulders. He set out into the storm, hoping for some help.

As Hans trudged through the dark woods, he saw an old man struggling to carry a heavy bundle of sticks along the path. Without a second thought, he rushed forward and said, "Let me lend you a hand, sir." He lifted the bundle and helped the old man walk to his home. The old man smiled warmly and said, "You look needy yourself, yet you shared your strength willingly. I have no money to repay you, but I can offer you something far better." From his cupboard, he drew out a small grinding mill, no larger than a bowl and placed it in Hans' hands.

"This little magical grinding mill will give you whatever you wish for," said the old man. "Turn it three times and ask for what you need. Say- 'Little mill, little mill, give me my will! And it will grant you a wish.

To stop it you have to say ‘Little mill, Little mill, rest and be still!’ But remember, you must know how much you need. You may regret if you are greedy.”

Puzzled but hopeful, Hans thanked the old man and hurried home. He placed the little mill upon the table and whispered, “Little mill, little mill, give me my will! Give me some food.” He turned it once, twice, thrice and suddenly the mill began to spin and hum. Out came loaves of warm bread, pats of golden butter, cheese and sweet cakes. The air filled with the smell of a feast. Hans smiled gratefully and said “Little mill, little mill, rest and be still!” The mill stopped at once. That night, his family ate very happily for the first time in years, they slept with full hearts and full stomachs.

From that day onward, Hans and his family never went hungry again. But Hans was very careful that he didn’t ask more than his needs. He also shared what he had with his needy neighbours, and soon people said he had a heart of gold.

(Part-2)

But words travel fast and when the rich brother, Erik heard of his sibling’s good fortune, envy burned within him. He marched straight to his brother’s cottage and demanded to know the secret of his wealth. Hans, too honest to hide the truth, showed him the magic mill and explained how it worked. That very night, greed got the better of Erik. He crept into the cottage secretly, stole the mill and made his way to the harbour. He climbed a ship and started sailing it, dreaming of riches beyond measure.

The ship sailed and sailed and reached the mid of the sea after few hours. It was cold and dark out. Erik’s tummy began to rumble with hunger. He had some boiled potatoes in his pocket. He took a bite. ‘Yuck!’ He made a face. “Utterly tasteless! No salt at all,” he grumbled. Then he remembered the magic mill and took it out. He placed the mill on the deck and commanded rudely, “Little mill, little mill, give me my will! I want salt. Right now. Be quick.” The mill began to turn, softly at first, then faster and faster, pouring out white salt like falling snow. “That’s enough!” shouted Eric but Alas! He had never learned how to stop it. He never knew the exact words.

The salt piled higher, the ship grew heavier. The mill kept turning, faster and faster, spilling heaps of salt across the boat. Eric’s eyes grew wide with fear. “Enough! Enough, I say! Hold on! That’s too much!” he shouted, waving his hands wildly. “Slow down, you silly mill! Cease, I tell you cease! Oh no, not more salt!” But the mill only whirled louder. “Wait! That’s plenty! Stop, I command you! Halt, you foolish thing!” he cried. The deck groaned under the growing mound of salt, the waves rose in fury, and before anyone could draw breath, the heavy ship heaved and sank, dragging the greedy man and the whirling mill deep down into the sea. To this day, people say the little mill still lies at the bottom of the ocean, turning without rest beneath the waves grinding, swirling, and spilling salt forever more. And that is why the sea is salty!

Read and learn.

trudged : walked slowly

envy : jealous

whispered : spoke softly

grumbled : complained

cease : to stop

generous : kind and ready to share

groaned : make a low sound hearth : A fireplace in the house

2. Let’s think and answer.

- Where did the two brothers, Erik and Hans, live?
- What did Hans do when he saw the old man in the woods?
- What magic words did Hans say to make the mill work?
- What happened when Hans turned the mill three times?
- What went wrong when Erik used the mill?
- Where is the mill now, according to the story?

3. Compare two brothers- Erik and Hans using following points.

- ◆ How were Erik and Hans different from each other?
- ◆ What did each character do in the story?
- ◆ How did they treat others?
- ◆ What did their actions cause?
- ◆ What did you learn from them?

4. Read carefully.

Erik heard of his sibling's good fortune, envy burned within him. He marched straight to his brother's cottage and demanded to know the secret of his wealth. Hans, too honest to hide the truth, showed him the magic mill and explained how it worked.

The coloured words are Simple Past Tense forms of verbs. We use the simple past tense when something happened before and now it's not happening anymore.

5. Think and give reasons.

- (a) Why do you think the old man chose to give the mill to Hans?
- (b) Why couldn't Erik stop the mill once it started grinding salt?
- (c) Why do you think greed causes people to lose?

6. Find all the words and phrases that mean 'stop' from the story.

7. Read the phrases in red colour. Make your own sentences using them.

From Folktale to Facts- How Salt Comes from the Sea ?

Hans and Erik's story about the magic mill that made salt was just a folktale, but in reality, salt is in the sea because of a natural process. Rivers carry tiny amounts of minerals, including sodium and chloride, from rocks into the oceans. Over millions of years, these minerals have made the sea salty.

Humans obtain salt from the sea through a process called sea salt harvesting. Seawater is collected in shallow ponds called salt pans and left to evaporate under the sun. As the water slowly evaporates over days or weeks, tiny salt crystals begin to form. Workers carefully scrape these crystals and collect them. The raw salt is then washed, dried and refined in factories to make it ready for cooking and other uses.

Salt is an important part of our diet. It helps the body maintain the right balance of fluids, supports nerve function and helps in muscle movement. However, too much salt can be harmful. Excessive intake may lead to high blood pressure and heart problems.

Chimiaaya's Baskets

This is Chinchpada, a small village in Palghar. Warli people live here happily. They live near a green forest full of life. There are many trees; big banyans, shady mango, leafy tamarind, straight bamboos, tall tad palms and coconut trees. Many animals and birds live in the forest too. Roaring tigers, chattering monkeys, chirping sparrows, squacking parrots and hissing snakes too!

Budhanana, Chimiaaya, Chaitu, Anshu, Shinubaba and many other people live in Chinchpada. Budhanana and Neema grow rice in their farms. Shinubaba goes fishing in the river. Sukari, Anshu and Devu collect fruits, woods and herbs from the jungle after school.

This is Chimiaaya. She weaves baskets every day. She cuts bamboo strips, smooths them with her knife and weaves them carefully. Her hands move quickly up and down, in and out until the basket is ready. She makes big baskets and small baskets, strong and beautiful. Everyone in Chinchpada needs a basket! Rangu needs a basket to sell fresh fruits and vegetables. He walks to the market with his big round basket full of yellow bananas, tangy tamarinds and ripe pumpkins. The basket smells fresh and sweet!

Neema needs a basket to keep her bhakaris fresh. She roasts them early in the morning and the basket keeps them soft. Devu needs a basket to keep his little hens safe. The hens cluck-cluck-cluck and flap their tiny wings when they see dogs and cats. But they are safe under the big basket. Sukari needs big and small baskets to store rice grains. She keeps them in the dark corner of her kitchen. The baskets keep the grains dry and fresh for many days. Pammi and Neelu need baskets to collect colourful flowers. Their baskets look pretty. Chinnu needs a basket to let his tiny kittens sleep. He spreads a soft cloth inside and gently puts the kittens in. They curl up and purr softly as they fall asleep. Shinubaba needs a basket to keep the fish he catches. When his basket is full with fishes, he sells them in the market.

When it rains, everyone on the farm uses an 'irale' to cover themselves. It looks like a long basket. Chimiaaya makes it beautifully using her bamboo strips. Chimiaaya sells baskets to everyone. But she needs one basket for herself. Do you know why? She smiles and says, "A basket-maker also needs a basket to keep her money safe!"

5. Let's tell our story in Warli Art!

Warli people make a special kind of art called 'Warli Painting'. They do it on mud walls using white paint made from rice flour paste.

Draw a Warli-style picture showing your daily life at home, in school, or outside. Use only simple shapes like circles, triangles and lines! Write a few lines about your drawing. You may compile all your Warli drawings and create a 'Class Warli Art Book'!

For the Teacher :

- Practise the pronunciation of the following warli names, using Devnagari script.
- ♦ Chinchpada ♦ Chimiaaya ♦ Budhanana
- ♦ Sukari ♦ Shinubaba ♦ Irale

Hello Children!

If you feel uneasy about someone touching you inappropriately, you should not keep quiet. You must :

1. Not blame yourself.
2. Tell someone whom you trust.
3. You can also inform National Commission for Protection of Child Rights through the POCSO e-box.

When you get an unsafe touch, you may feel bad, confused and helpless.
You need not feel “bad” because it’s not your fault.

राज्यगीत

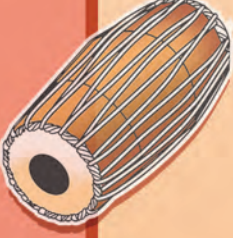

जय जय महाराष्ट्र माझा, गर्जा महाराष्ट्र माझा
जय जय महाराष्ट्र माझा, गर्जा महाराष्ट्र माझा ॥धृ॥

भिती न आम्हा तुझी मुळी ही गडगडणाऱ्या नभा
अस्मानाच्या सुलतानीला जबाब देती जिभा
सह्याद्रीचा सिंह गर्जतो शिव शंभू राजा
दरी दरीतून नाद गुंजला महाराष्ट्र माझा
जय जय महाराष्ट्र माझा, गर्जा महाराष्ट्र माझा ॥१॥

काळ्या छातीवरी कोरली, अभिमानाची लेणी
पोलादी मनगटे खेळती, खेळ जीवघेणी
दारिद्र्याच्या उन्हात शिजला
निढळाच्या घामाने भिजला
देश गौरवासाठी झिजला
दिल्लीचे ही तख्त राखितो, महाराष्ट्र माझा
जय जय महाराष्ट्र माझा, गर्जा महाराष्ट्र माझा
जय जय महाराष्ट्र माझा ॥२॥
